Intervention By President Is Now Predicted

Labor's Walkout In Mobilization Plan Creates New Crisis

By FELIX COTTEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Organized labor's wholesale walkout from the mobilization program braked the government's machinery to control inflation to a virtual standstill today and brought predictions of presidential intervention.

Major labor organization pulled all their representatives and advisory committees from government agencies handling different segments of the rearmament effort. Veteran officials recalled no precedent for the mass labor resignations.

President May Intervene

Informed sources predict that President Truman will personally intervene in the situation in an effort to reestablish his plan for curbing inflation through the cooperative assistance of labor, management and the public.

These sources declared that wages cannot be controlled without the cooperation of labor, and that with wages uncontrolled price rises likewise will not be curbed.

Neither War Mobilizer Wilson nor Economic Stabilizer Johnston had any immediate comment on the announcement by the United Labor Policy committee that all labor assistants and consultants and advisory committees participating in the mobilization effort were resigning en masse.

Some sources said the president may await public reaction to labor's move in expectation that it may induce a more conciliatory attitude on the part of union leaders.

President Silent On Plans To Meet Labor 'Boycott'

By FELIX COTTEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1. — President Truman said today that he does not regard labor's boycott of the nation's mobilization effort as very serious or as an actual strike against the government.

The President told his news conference that he has full confidence in Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson. He said labor should remember that the present world crisis affects every segment of the population, including labor.

Mr. Truman's remarks referred to the action late yesterday of the major labor organizations in ordering the withdrawal of all their representatives from participation in the mobilization program in protest over the 10 percent wage increase formula.

Declines To Disclose Steps

The President declined to disclose what steps he will take to meet the labor boycott but he said he will act at the proper time.

Mr. Truman said this action could be expected within a couple of weeks.

The chief executive said the development is not a strike against the government but is simply another aspect of a disagreement.

He said he is leaving for Florida

Non-Operating Rail Unions End Dispute

Announcement Is Made Of Agreement During Morning

By EDWIN HOFFMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The nation's non-operating rail unions, representing more than a million workers, today ended their long wage dispute with the railroads by signing a contract for a 12 and one-half cent hourly pay boost.

Agreement Announced

An agreement, announced by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, was reached shortly after 6 a. m. EST., after an all-night negotiating session at the White House.

The contract is retroactive to Feb. 1, and contains a provision for a cost-of-living adjustment on April 1 based on the Labor Department's index and a similar revision every three months thereafter.

The agreement does not affect the operating rail unions who recently went on strike because of another wage dispute. The railroads are still being operated by the government as a result of this dispute.

Binding To Oct. 1, 1953

The contract for the 15 non-operating unions is binding to Oct. 1, 1953—a date Steelman said was requested by President Truman.

Enemy Forces Fight Hard To Delay Advance

Red Troops Making Greater Attempt To Hold Present Lines

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, March 2—(Friday)—The United Nations "Killer Offensive" rammed forward against heavy resistance at several points on the Korean front Thursday and in one bloody struggle U.S. marines killed 88 Chinese Reds in a bayonet charge.

Enemy forces, fighting a delaying action below the 38th Parallel, battled for every inch of ground in two engagements — against the marines on the central front near Hoengsong and against U.S. Army infantrymen near Seoul.

On the east-central front resistance also was strong as U.S. Second Division troops ground out a half mile gain.

Dramatic Battle

The battle-hardened leathernecks of the First Marine Division engaged in the most dramatic battle of the day when they stormed Cloverleaf Hill two and a half miles west of Hoengsong.

The marines overcame buzzsaw resistance by elements of the Chinese 66th Red Army entrenched on the strategic height Thursday morning but later the Communists regrouped and counter-attacked strongly.

A front dispatch from International News Service War Correspondent Frank Conniff reported the marines were still "heavily engaged" Thursday evening.

In reporting on increased enemy resistance, Conniff quoted a Tenth Corps spokesman as saying:

"The Communists are showing greater determination to remain in areas where they are in contact with Allied forces. They are fighting stronger delaying actions."

Increased Resistance

Increased enemy resistance also cropped up on the western front near Seoul.

A reinforced American Third Division reconnaissance patrol landed from assault boats on an island in the Han river four miles east of Seoul and after a five-hour fight withdrew to the south bank of the stream.

The American infantrymen ran into fierce opposition in the village of Chimsil at the southern tip of the island and also at Sinchon on the northern end. Enemy mortar and artillery on the north bank of the river also opened up on the Americans.

The original plan of Allied officers was to take the island and set it up as a bridgehead from which tanks could attack enemy troops in the Red-held national capital.

Not of Major Importance

Failure to hold the island, however, was not considered of major importance since the avowed aim of the "Killer Offensive" is to destroy as many enemy troops as possible rather than to gain ground.

On the central front the marines fulfilled that aim and also gained a position commanding the entire Hoengsong valley when they seized Cloverleaf Hill. Hoengsong, a mid-

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A Republican demand for an "exhaustive" review of overall defense plans before the European troops issue is settled was rejected today by Sen. Russell (D) Ga., chairman of the armed services committee.

The demand was made by Senate GOP leader Wherry (R) Neb., as the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees met in closed session to work on a final resolution to authorize sending additional U. S. troops to Europe. Public hearings closed Wednesday.

GOP Senate leader Taft of Ohio, meanwhile, asserted in a Baltimore speech that the United States should concentrate on air and sea

Report U.S. Is Ready To Give Aid To Spain

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—The United States is reported ready today to extend a 300 million dollar military aid program to bring Franco Spain up to full fighting strength in the battle against communism.

This sum is expected to bring the estimated 700,000 men in the forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco to fully equipped, top condition.

The U. S., according to responsible sources, is approaching the problem cautiously. It fears both domestic and international political repercussions.

However, extremely informal discussions have been held with France and Britain on the problem. It is in these countries that internal political reaction is expected to be keenest. Britain especially is cold to Spain's participation in the Atlantic treaty.

First Marines In Rotation Plan On Way Back To U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—(INS)—The first contingent of unwounded U. S. Marine Corps veterans of the Korean war will arrive in San Francisco Monday under the corps' newly announced rotation program.

A contingent of 600 leathernecks, selected because of length of time in combat, number of dependents and other factors, will return through the Golden Gate aboard the military transport General Breckinridge.

Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, commanding general of the Marines' department of the Pacific, made the announcement of the imminent return of the war veterans.

He expressed the hope that "families and friends" of the returning marines as well as "the general public" will attend the first large-scale homecoming of troops since the Korean war began eight months ago.

Erskine's announcement came only four days after Marine Commandant Gen. Clifton B. Cates disclosed that the marines had instigated a rotation policy.

The army hopes to get a rotation program underway shortly.

Government To Probe Reports Of Illegal Boosts

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The government's first large-scale price investigation probes today into reports meat prices have jumped illegally three to five cents a pound.

Price stabilization investigators throughout the nation acted after a "substantial portion" of the industry complained of price hikes at the packer and handling level.

Meat distributors declared the price prevented them from passing the price increases on to consumers and demanded protective action.

Orders Probe

To settle the question, office of price stabilization enforcement director Edward P. Morgan assigned "all available" investigators to check meat firms price records and reports.

Morgan asserted:

Plans Outlined For Anniversary

Sesqui-Centennial Of Presbyterians Planned

Plans for the observance of the sesqui-centennial of the First Presbyterian church were discussed at a meeting of the general committee, presided over by Attorney William D. Cobau, which took place in the parlors of the church, Wednesday evening.

A tentative date for the celebration of the event was chosen for the week of June 18-24, and committees were appointed to outline different phases of the observance. These will report back at another meeting to be held in the near future at the call of the chairman.

The exact date of the formation of the church is not definitely known, but first settlers in this vicinity, mostly of Scotch-Irish descent, began meeting for the worship of God as early as 1798.

The first church was organized sometime in 1801, as the Lower Neshannock Presbyterian Congregation of the Presbytery of Erie.

This makes the First Presbyterian church, as it later became known, the oldest congregation in the city of New Castle, and its sesqui-centennial program promises to be a fitting one.

INS War Correspondent Irwin Tress in a front dispatch telling of the epic hill assault said the leathernecks killed 88 Chinese Reds with their bayonets.

A marine officer whose name was deleted by censors told Tress:

"It was a tough fight but the terrain was almost as tough as the Chinese.

"It looks like we ran into a buzzsaw but we'll be okay."

Other United Nations forces moved forward in coordination with the marines' attack on the central front.

In the area of Yongdu which lies 15 miles northwest of Hoengsong, U.S. First Cavalry troops and British Commonwealth forces attacked enemy positions.

An Eighth Army communique reported that the British troops including Australians and Canadians advanced 4,000 to 6,000 yards to seize hill 426 six miles southeast of Yongdu.

On the east-central front, U.S. Seventh Division infantrymen swept into the town of Amidong, seven miles north of Pangnim to move within 31 miles of Parallel 38. Allied artillery wiped out enemy machine-gun nests within the town to pave the way for the entry.

On the right flank of the Seventh Division, South Korea troops were reported heavily engaged Thursday afternoon with an enemy force of undetermined strength.

and Railway Brotherhoods, did not slam the door completely shut. It left a small opening for the renewal of negotiations.

In its prepared statement announcing the resignations, it said:

"In the interests of our country and the cause of international peace and freedom to which it is committed, we stand ready to meet with responsible representatives of our government to continue to seek a remedy for the insupportable conditions facing us."

Labor's anger is directed chiefly at Wilson, and some administration officials insist that the committee action is intended to force Wilson out as mobilization chief, or at least to compel him to return control of manpower to the Labor department.

Group Withdraws

The group, however, withdrew from government agencies handling defense programs for four labor advisory committees. In addition, George Harrison, president of the AFL Railway Clerks, withdrew as special assistant to Johnston. A. J. Hayes, president of the Machinists Union, resigned as special assistant to Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower.

The walkout follows the resignations of the thre labor members of the Wage Stabilization board after that agency two weeks ago adopted a 10 percent ceiling on wage increases since January 15, 1950.

Johnston approved this ceiling Tuesday night, but recommended to the board that it approve major demands by labor for making the formula more flexible. Although this was in the nature of a concession to labor, the union leaders insisted that Johnston should have ordered the changes in the formula directly instead of asking the board to approve them.

A reporter asked:

"Do you remain confident that labor will continue, by and large, to do its share to produce the weapons and other things required for national defense?"

Affects Every Segment

The President said he did. He told the reporter: Let me tell you something, sometime back I declared a national emergency. That emergency affects every segment of our nation and the continent. It affects labor, the white collar worker, industry and everyone.

Mr. Truman stressed that the nation is in a national emergency —a very grave emergency and that every segment of the population has got to pull its full weight if the nation is to come through present times safely.

The President was not worried in appearance as he faced more than a hundred reporters in the first news conference he has held in two weeks.

Labor Secretary Tobin accompanied the President to the news conference, and the President told questioners that he had been conferring with Tobin on the defense effort.

NON-OPERATING RAIL UNIONS END DISPUTE

However, it may be reopened July 1, 1952, if approval is given by the wage stabilization board.

George Leighty, chairman of the non-operating union negotiating committee commented:

"We labored long and hard to reach an agreement. While we would like to have seen a better agreement, it is an agreement I think we can live with."

No Rules Changes

There were no rules changes involved in the settlement reached between the carriers and the clerks, shop workers, telegraphers, etc.

Steelman explained that the question of working rules for non-operating employes has never caused a threat of interruption of railroad service.

The 12 and one-half cent hourly figure was just half of the 25-cent raise that the rail workers asked when negotiations were opened in November.

The wage increase is estimated to cost the carriers 280 million dollars annually.

George Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, thanked members of the National Mediation Board and Steelman for "the fine assistance they rendered in this controversy."

In addition, they will check on live cattle prices and will determine prices charged by integrated slaughterers who have branch houses distributing the meats.

OPS said packers will also be asked to explain the methods used to arrive at their current ceilings as compared with their base period experience.

of Akron at the piano and Rev. Jerry Renkenberger at the organ, provided equally pleasing vocal and instrumental selections. Rev. Troy likewise was heard in a vocal number, "The Love of God".

Rev. George Jones, general chairman, presided over the great service, with L. B. Round, first vice chairman of the campaign, presided over the lifting of the offering. Rev. Howard Sartell gave the invocation.

Dr. Appelman, who used a New Testament theme, dwelt at length on the great commission of Christ, which he pointed out was the reason for the very existence of Christion churches today. He showed that the work of Christ was not finished and God would continue to honor His Word. He asked his Adam Lutzweiler of Dixon, Ill., at the marimba; Rev. C. Bergerson listeners to do what God desired them to do if they would have blessing in their lives.

Concluding his heart searching meditation, the internationally known speaker admonished his audience to obey the commands of God because those that turn their backs on God are doomed forever and God must punish sin whether it be personal or national. He urged his listeners to stop worrying and start living.

Service Tonight

Tonight, the well known speaker will use as his theme "America Needs A New Religion". Friday he has chosen to speak on "The Cheapest Thing In Pennsylvania". This will be Sunday school night when Sunday school members will be recognized. Services are slated on Saturday, which is youth night; Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon he has promised to speak on "The Third World War—Will America Fight Russia?"

Noon day services at the First Presbyterian church are attracting large audiences. Dr. Appelman is speaking daily on "The Holy Spirit". These services are prefaced by prayer at 11:45. Children's rallies are being presented in Calvary Tabernacle, First Baptist church and Neighborhood House.

The campaign continues every night until March 18.

lated that East-West problems on Germany should be the topic of discussion.

But the U.S., Britain and France took the view that all East-West problems should be embraced although German issues could be given priority.

They then suggested a meeting of Big Four deputies early this month to draft an agenda.

Gromyko's reply now apparently paves the way for a new formal session of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers if the deputies are able to agree upon a satisfactory program of discussion.

power and that the U. S. "could not possibly build up land forces which would act effectively on land masses of Europe and Asia."

Need Forces To Defend U. S.

Taft declared that "all of the land forces of the army that we could afford to maintain, we need to defend our own country."

Four major and differing proposals were before the joint Senate group. They range from Wherry's original one to withhold action until Congress has settled a policy, to the Connally-Russell resolution affirming the plan to send additional units.

Wherry asked that more military experts be summoned to testify on how the "defense dollar" should be split up among the Army, Air Force and Navy. The GOP leaders wants the Air Force to get the major share, and pin defense against Russia on air power backed by sea forces.

But Russell said flatly:

"It is not the function of the joint committee to set defense policy."

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., Foreign Relations Chairman, holds the same view.

Wherry said he would "not support a blanket resolution like Connally's. He charged that it "just rubber stamps the administration program."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Enrichetta Rotunno, who passed away 7 years ago today, March 1, 1944.

"What we would give to clasp her hand,
Her happy face to see;
To hear her voice and see her smile,
That meant so much to us."

electoral system which will achieve two major objectives:

1. Assure a drastic reduction of the Communist representation in the next parliament, without weakening the third force parties.

2. Prevent return of too many minority parties capable of frequently upsetting the government.

The dilemma of the third force leaders is now to find a trick formula to assure their return in sufficient strong numbers so they will be able to form a government that will last.

Since it is doubtful that any single group could get a clear majority on any initial ballot, most third force members favor a two-ballot system. This would provide coalition deals. A second ballot, according to their plans, would enable the return of candidates from some constituencies even if the majority of the electors voted against them.

A simple, but impressive ceremony, united the lives of Miss Dorothy May Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhodes, Cunningham avenue, and Ronald Dean Oliphant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oliphant, Berger street, R. D. 9.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride appeared in an aqua suit with pretty brown accessories. A strand of pearls was her only jewelry. She wore a corsage of gardenias to complete her ensemble.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Betty Oliphant wore a beige suit with brown accessories. A corsage of yellow carnations was a lovely accent of the costume.

Cecil Oliphant served the groom as best man, with ushers including Russell Rhodes and John Sarbo.

Fred Riley, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Always," and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Following the ceremony a reception for 135 guests was held at the Y.W.C.A. The wedding cake was cut by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Minnie McCormick, with aides including Mrs. Edward Rhodes, Jr., Mrs. Russell Rhodes, Mrs. Norman Rhodes, Mrs. Harry Hare, and Sarah Delores Kennedy.

MAY 'EXTERMINATE' KOREAN REPUBLIC

Republic of Korea officials are beginning to think that, ironically, the "cure" for Communist aggression may be worse than the "disease."

Yongjeung Kim, president of the Korean Affairs Institute, said that if the war continues much longer "the United Nations might win victory in a lifeless land."

He reported that due to the conflict, over one million of his people have died. In addition, he said that more than 10 million of the country's 20 million population are refugees and homeless.

Many more, he added, "are dying of hunger and exposure on the roadside and in the fields and streets."

Kim said that the UN relief program, sidetracked by the war, must be brought back into action and on a larger scale or the war will literally "exterminate" the Korean republic.

THE TWILIGHT OF THE MEN

It's our guess that the "average" American man is surprised to learn that in 1950, according to a breakdown of Census Bureau figures, there were 100 women in this country for every 98.1 men. The proportion in stores, buses and even in the home last year seemed—and seems in 1951, for that matter—at least four or five women to one man.

The "average" American, says the census people, is native born, female, 30.1 years old, married, living in a city and in a household with 2.4 other persons. The .4 doubtless represents a husband, although a good many husbands do not enjoy a domestic rating as high as .4.

If the cost of living goes on rising it isn't unlikely that the 1960 census will show a ratio of something like 100 women to 73.3 men, and the "average" American as female, 22.7 years old. The struggle of trying to pay bills, meet income tax installments and keep up with the evening television programs is sure, sooner or later, to eliminate men.

TOO HIGH A PRICE

Imagine the clamor that would be stirred if airplane or railroad accidents were taking a daily toll of 96 persons killed and 3,287 injured! Preliminary figures show that these were the daily averages of dead and injured resulting from highway accidents last year.

This appalling record emphasizes the need for drastic preventive measures, prompting President Truman to call another highway safety conference in Washington next June. Better policing of roads, particularly in rural areas; improved traffic court administration, more uniformity in traffic laws and stricter requirements in licensing drivers are cited in a White House statement as most urgent traffic reforms.

Only a compartively few states have adopted most of all of these safeguards, but those that have done so register the lowest death rates per 100,000,000 miles of motor travel. Credit for the lowest rate—3.6—goes to Rhode Island, though it has the highest population density. Connecticut and Massachusetts, with 3.8, are tied for second place and New Jersey is third with a 3.9 rate.

These states may feel a certain pride in receiving special mention for their accomplishment, but they cannot afford to relax their efforts. Regardless of mileage, "carelessness, ignorance, disregard of the law and inefficient driving," to quote the president, are exacting too high a price.

TWISTED THINKING

Madame Kusum Nair, head of a publishing house in India, says:

"India is not convinced that the democracies are worth fighting for as against Russia or communism. India does not identify communism with Russian imperialism. The Indian does not believe that every country that goes Communist must necessarily become a satellite of Russia or ape Russia's obvious shortcomings.

"India interprets Red revolutions in Asiatic countries as inevitable national upsurges, mainly agrarian in nature, resulting from and directed against domestic reaction and foreign imperialism. Most Indian intellectuals believe Marxism to be pecularly suitable to Asiatic conditions."

The belief is widely held in India, the woman leader continues, that the United States is not only helping to bolster old imperialist interests but is evolving a new imperialism. Donating 2,000,000 tons of wheat to India is a manifestation of this imperialism, no doubt.

After what has happened in China, it is beyond comprehension that anyone can reason as this woman does. Here was a proclaimed "agrarian" revolution. But the Chinese Communists wound up in the arms of Russia. Russia and Red China are working together now to subjugate the remainder of Asia, including India.

If the Indian madame thinks India would be allowed to pursue its own Communist course without Russian overlordship, she is dumb.

People in low diet countries are being urged to plant. They are low diet countries because this didn't occur to them.

"Venus Crosses Moon's Path"—headline. Sounds like a mild flirtation between those two famous symbols of the tender emotion.

German industrialist who helped finance Hitler has just died penniless. Hitler turned out to be a poor investment for more persons than his banker.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Explosive New Situation?

A broad hint that definite progress is being made in lining up the Mediterranean nations for a definite place in the North Atlantic treaty organization has been given by British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell.

And there is a definite possibility that before a workable plan is obtained, the planners of Western defense policies may have to clear some sizable hurdles and come to grips with an explosive new situation.

Shinwell told a luncheon meeting of the Foreign Press Association in London that the question of bringing Greece, Turkey and other Mediterranean nations into the "spirit and outlook" of the Atlantic pact is under active consideration.

Russian Reaction?

What he did not say is that Soviet Russia can be expected to react with real vigor.

The Russians have not taken kindly to the dispatch of United States military and economic aid, particularly to Turkey.

For the present, this assistance as well as other American moves in Iran, have checkmated Soviet plans for expansion in the Middle East.

A measure of Soviet annoyance could be seen in a blast a little more than a week ago appearing in the newspaper "Red Fleet," official organ of the Russian Navy. It said that the United States, Great Britain and France, with the cooperation of Italy, were planning a seaborne attack against Soviet industrial centers on the Black Sea.

No such thing ever transpired, of course. But the charge served to recall Russia's frequent demands for a fortress on the Dardanelles and an end to Turkish control over the vital straits linking the Black Sea with the Mediterranean.

Remember Soviet Demands

Observers also rememberd Soviet designs on the eastern Turkish provinces of Kars and Ardahan, plus Moscow's frequent criticism of Great Britain and the United States for maintaining air bases in north Africa.

Generally speaking, the plans for inclusion of the Mediterranean in the Atlantic defense system pose the following problems:

1. As outlined, a conflict with Soviet interests and ambitions in the Middle East as a result of Turkish participation.

2. That of maintaining stability in Greece and giving the Russians no opportunity to make a case against alleged Western interference in the Balkans.

3. A revision of the Italian peace treaty in exchange for vital Italian naval and military contributions to defense.

4. The status of Generalissimo Francisco Franco and his falange-ruled Spain.

Cannot Exclude Italy-Spain

Obviously, full utilization of anti-Communist forces in the Mediterranean cannot exclude Italy and Spain.

Italy's demands for peace treaty revision have been many and vocal.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi and Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza insist that the present pact is discriminatory; that it encourages the Communist cause and hamstrings the Italian nation in its joint efforts to achieve economic and trade recovery and at the same time re-arm for Democracy.

Franco has been no less vehement in presenting his case as Europe's first and firmest bulwark against Communism. He has been equally emphatic in stating that if the Western powers continue to ignor him, he will find some way of proceeding on an independent course.

The Western powers have moved toward readjustment of their attitudes regarding Spain by resuming full diplomatic relations while still condemning his form of government.

But the strategic importance of Gibraltar and of Tangier and Spanish Morocco across the Mediterranean cannot be overlooked in any strategy of sealing one end of the inland sea and keeping the Western reaches wide open for fast and effective naval and air action in the event of any emergency.

Like any other program of grand military strategy, the present one contains many throny and obvious difficulties. If they are satisfactorily overcome, Western democracy may be well on the road to military self-sufficiency against aggression.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD AND HIS GEOGRAPHY

There was never a time when intelligent conversation, reading or hearing the news required so much geographic information. Yet the average person has a very vague idea of the relative places, directions and distances between them, relative climates, temperature, precipitation, products and ways of living in the various places he may read about or hear about on any single day. Of distances and locations, the average person's information is most vague. Newspapers and magazines occasionally print some maps but rarely do these maps help orient one with other portions of the world.

For many years, social sciences in our schools have pretty widely ignored place geography. Several years ago writer Benjamin Fine assembled some facts about how much American history was being taught in our high schools and colleges. The small amount he discovered was appalling.

Similar Enquiry

Mr. Fine has recently made a similar enquiry concerning geography. He finds that the nation's colleges and universities practically ignore the teaching of geography. During the present academic year fewer than 5 per cent of our college students are taking even one course in geography. Less than one per cent of undergraduate college students have enrolled in an American geography course. Only four colleges out of a hundred, in the United States, require a geopraphy course for an undergraduate degree.

When college authorities of 297 liberal arts colleges and universities were asked about the matter, 78 per cent said that geography should help students become better citizens. Comments by these authorities indicated that college students are woefully ignorant of nearly any phase of geography.

The survey revealed that 77 per cent of the colleges and universities offer courses in geography, that 56 per cent have some students enrolled in such courses, but that only 32 per cent have any students enrolled in American geography.

Courses In Geography

One might suppose that students majoring in economics, sociology, history or government would be required to take some courses in geography. But 81 per cent of the college students majoring in economics are not required to pursue a geography course, 92 per cent of the students majoring in sociology, 90 per cent majority in government, 90 per cent majoring in history and 64 per cent majoring in education. Apparently only three out of ten leaders in education are required to know some geography!

Now are colleges and universities concerned that their students should have had geography in high school? Out of 294 colleges and universities only one required geography for admission. In the grades and high school, geography is often not taught as a separate subject but in connection with the social sciences, therefore often woefully restricted.

We parents can do something to make our children and ourselves more intelligent about geography. In our discussions in the family of world events, we should often refer to a map or globe, having easily available such simple useful equipment in our home. Ascertaining directions, distances, temperatures, weather and the like in connection with the news in print or on the air can be a delightful as well as profitable family activity, and parents with very little formal schooling could lead effectively in such a family enterprise.

Just Folks

THE PAMPERED BLOSSOMS

No aphis on the red rose stem,
No cutworm's touch of doom!
Admiringly I gaze on them,
So perfect, bud and bloom!

The giant zinnia, giant-like,
Stands tall for all to view,
And very flowered larkspur spike
Is exquisitely blue.

These are the gardens, proud and rich,
Supplied with tender care.
My flowers must brave the hardships which
The poor are forced to bear.

My plants must struggle day by day
'Gainst foes and rains and fogs,
But these were pampered for display
In garden catalogues.

It has been established that some motorists are fast . . . take it how you will . . . but there is such a thing as being too fast and those who now are using 1951 license plates are classified as such. The law reads . . . the 1951 auto tags can be used first on the 15th of March . . . all cars must have them by April one. Pennsylvania State Tags of course.

This week we have seen several cars sporting the new tags . . . the penalty is not worth the honor of being first to display the shiny new numbers. The lads who patrol the highways . . . and wear those snappy round hats . . . have a way of making their presence felt. So if you are one of the "fast motorists" or a friend of same . . . take a friendly bit of advice and keep the car in the garage or change back to the 1950 tags.

Here's a thought . . . the past winter has been a tough one . . . but no piece of equipment has suffered more than the auto . . . with snow, ice and slush . . . freeze and thawing . . . the finish on most cars has taken a beating . . . the salt used to keep the streets and highways open likes to eat . . . and it likes to eat the finish from the motor car. Seems as if some energetic young men would take advantage of the situation . . . and set up the business of polishing cars. There are some places where you can get a good polish job but really they are few and far between.

Austos bring traffic control to the floor . . . Traffic lights have changed . . . today traffic lights can think out the problem of handling the job. Take for instance the new traffic light at the corner of Wilmington and Garfield . . . certain times of the day the light is needed . . . other times it slows down traffic. With the new inventions for traffic lights . . . this traffic control device would "think" the problem out . . . only stopping cars on Wilmington when cross traffic demanded . . . could also stop speeding cars on Wilmington . . . all by the so-called "brain" in the light. We recommend interested citizens . . . including the traffic committee to read Coronet . . . March issue . . . page 98.

A LOT OF MOONS SEEM TO AFFECT THE TIDES

Climbing Steps In Rome

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

ROME, March 1.—I don't want this to sound as if the works of Michelangelo, Leonardo de Vinci, Raphael, Bernini, Cellini, and the hundreds of other masters who contributed to the glories of Rome, are lost on me.

Because they are not.

I can wear myself to a frazzle traipsing from one masterpiece to another as fast as any other tourist.

But I do wish that among all these creative geniuses there had been at least one who cared only about creating elevators and escalators, and wanted no part of the brush or chisel. He would be my all-time Italian hero.

Longs for Escaltor

I am sure that my longing for an escalator instead of a statue or a fountain or a dome is due to the location of the hotel in which we are staying on this visit to Rome. It is the Villa Medici Hassler, and it is smack at the top of the Spanish Staircase.

This magnificently beautiful horror of marble has 176 steps and I find myself having to descend and ascend it several times a day. No one could object to going down the staircase. It affords a beautiful view. In the distance is the dome of St. Peter's, and if you choose to walk on the left of the staircase you can pick a flower from the balcony of the home where Keats and Shelley lived, and throw a crumb to the doves which have a cote under the trellis.

The stairs end at the flower market of the Piazza di Spagna, where the spray from a fountain falls on violets, tulips, roses, almond blossoms, mimosa, and keeps green the grass around the palm trees in the Piazza.

In the morning, when I start out sightseeing or shopping, I scamper down the steps like a frisky, middle-aged lamb. The staircase doesn't seem any longer than a yard ruler.

But coming back is a staircase of another color.

Already weary from walking, and often laden with bundles, the staircase looms as formidable as Gibraltar. My conversation with myself runs something like this:

'Get a Taxi'

"Get a taxi the long way 'round, you idiot. You can't make it. Come, come, old man, you're not that old and decrepit. There goes a boy carrying his bicycle up to the top. If he can do that, you can make it."

I always talk myself into it and after about fifty steps I stop, always trying to fool myself that I'm stopping simply for another whack at the glorious view. Actually, on clear days you can hear me wheeze as far away as Florence.

At about 90 steps I want to abandon the whole thing but I have reached what is known in aviation as the point of no return. It's as far down as it is up. So I go on.

When I finally get to the top I am wheezing no more. I'm not doing anything. No more hearing me in Florence. A doctor with a souped up stethoscope would have trouble hearing a sound.

You would think that my second ascent of the day, usually at night, would be worse than the noon one. But it isn't. Under the cover of darkness I can crawl up, taking a little siesta on each step.

My only satisfaction out of the steps comes from watching from my hotel window the efforts of others of my age and build working their way up the staircases. Sometimes I nearly laugh myself to death when I see apoplexy working itself up around a man's collar.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

What was all the excitement about General Vaughan having an alien secretary . . . Shucks, some of our Congressmen have been screaming for months about whole departments having an alien philosophy.

But one of our lady statesmen has explained the whole thing . . . Communism looked attractive to some of our young men, but doesn't now and will everyone please forget about it, move along, and don't collect a crowd.

Or as the bad boy remarked as he trussed up his grandmother to steal her gold teeth . . . "I plan to regret this as soon as I am caught and I suggest the police forget all about it."

It's extraordinary though how many "brilliant young men" are now trying to beat the rap with a defense of being stupid about communism.

And more extraordinary how their defenders remain in public life when they should be in the public stockade.

We have one doughty defender of "the poor disillusioned young men" who needs only three more medals to corner the bronze supply of the country.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The death of Frank Phillips in Atlantic City last August ended the success story of one of the most colorful figures in American industry. Phillips began his career as a barber in Creston, Iowa. He had seen a tonsorial artist wearing beautiful striped pants when he was a boy, and then and there resolved to have a pair like them for himself.

In a few years he owned all the barber shops in the county, and had married the leading banker's daughter. Then he started digging for oil in Oklahoma, and brought in 80 gushers in succession! With his first million he had all the pipes, faucets and door knobs in his house changed to solid gold. He lived to see his Phillips Petroleum company become one of the greatest oil producing, refining and distribution units in the world.

Phillips had a bluff, hearty sense of humor, and supplied his friend Will Rogers with some of his most original sallies. Typical was his explanation for a slew of bandages on his face one morning when he entered the Petroleum club in Dallas. "In memory of my misspent youth, I let one of the boys at the barber school shave me for his final examination—and did he flunk!"

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Gulf Divides Republican Party

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The width of the table separating witness Thomas E. Dewey from his inquisitor, Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, is the gulf that divides the Republican party. Actually it is as great as the distance between Wherry's Nebraska and Dewey's New York State.

The exchange between the two men was also a footnote to the election campaign of 1948. Dewey could not express his true convictions in that campaign because in state after state were found Republican congressional candidates who were diametrically opposed to the views of the Republican presidential candidate.

After the muted cadences of his speeches in that campaign, Dewey's forthright statement on troops to Europe was like a gust of fresh air. It was followed by Senator James Duff's equally clear and direct broadcast Sunday evening. It may well be a fatal mistake in this critical hour, Duff said, if we substitute political opinion for military judgment in what is clearly a military matter.

At Opposite Poles

Duff and Dewey are at opposite poles temperamentally as, in the past, they have been politically. Yet, their agreement on this issue and on the role of General Eisenhower would seem to unite them beyond the irrigation of past disagreements. Similarly, Harold Stassen, the former Minnesotan now president of the University of Pennsylvania, is firmly aligned with those who hold that cooperation with Western Europe is of paramount importance.

How the breach in the Republican party can be healed before 1952 it is impossible now to see. Even the expectation of what appeared to be certain victory was not sufficient to close it in '48.

Still another Republican faction was heard from the other day with Senator Karl Mundt of South Dakota openly proposing a new party to be formed in alliance with the southern Democrats. This would be called the Liberty party and it would be anti-socialist, socialism in this instance being whatever Senator Mundt chose to brand with that name.

Such a party has real possibilities. It would have an appeal in rural areas where resentment of the domination of the cities is a growing force. Thus the Liberty party might unite Mississippi and South Dakota.

Appeal Would Be Dubious

But it could hardly be expected to carry weight in any of the populous states. Even in highly prosperous farm areas the appeal would be dubious since farm subsidies and the government-enforced parity price system might well be branded as socialistic. The net effect would be to splinter the Republican party still further since a so-called Liberty party could hardly be expected to have any greater success in the South than the Dixiecrats had three years ago.

If this same deep chasm of division prevails next year, then it must be counted a tragedy. The Democratic party has been in power for nearly 20 years. In the very nature of things it is tired, enfeebled, ingrown with the habit of office holding. I believe that most Americans regardless of party would like to be able to turn to a positive alternative that offers them a future and not a return to the past.

Yet Senator Robert A. Taft, Wherry and the others who think as they do sometimes appear determined to make a Republican victory impossible. There was, of course, Taft's impressive triumph by a majority of more than 400,000 in Ohio last fall. But whether that can be translated into national terms is another matter.

Sometimes Overlooked

What is sometimes overlooked with respect to the Ohio contest is that it was an illustration of the old political axiom about not being able to beat something with nothing. The Democrats seemed determined to demonstrate their bankruptcy by a wholly negative campaign—a candidate who was a cipher, and silly and wholly unrealistic attacks on the "Taft-Hartley slave labor law."

Reports from the South have it that even in that traditional fortress of the Democratic party they are ready for a sweeping change in Washington. Give us, the word comes from the South, the right man and we will vote Republican. By the right man more often than not they mean Eisenhower. There are persistent rumors of the developing outline of a carefully worked out plan which would put at least five southern states in the Republican column if General Eisenhower were at the top of the ticket.

Taft and Wherry have had their say. Whatever their intention in the first instance may have been, they have succeeded, as Dewey said, in encouraging defeatism at home and since both have a thorough understanding of the politics of the Senate, they can have had few illusions about how the final vote will go.

But they also understand how thoroughly under control is the machinery of the Republican party and how tightly the Taft faction holds the levers. The way those levers are pulled will determine how the votes are cast in the Republican convention next year. And those, or so the Taft group confidently assumes, are the decisive votes.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Be careful, Sir! You are speaking of the woman I love.

This warning is addressed to Dr. A. H. Douthwaite, the British dietary expert.

In an article in the British Medical Journal this man alleges that women overfeed their husbands for utterly selfish reasons and that, thus, they are poisoning them as surely as if they put arsenic or ground glass into their food.

"A comfortably obese male," writes Dr. Douthwaite, "is easier to live with and not so apt to stray from the path of virtue."

Thus, they think up all kinds of delicacies and fattening dishes for their husbands—and the first thing you know their men have heart trouble and die long before their appointed time.

Then their death is recorded as due to heart failure rather than to custard pie.

A man with a pot belly, says the doctor, is just as badly off as a fellow who has to tote a heavy suitcase around all day.

There is a difference in favor of the suitcase-toter at that. He can put down his burden and rest for a while.

But the man with the pot belly carries his load forever. Even at night it goes to bed with him and is deposited right on top of his stomach.

I resent the implication that wives feed their husbands well to make them more docile and easy-going.

I think it's love.

Only last night my wife gave me a dinner that was so delicious that it kept me awake half of the night.

Shrimps Newburg with Rice.

An avocado with French dressing.

An Apple Brown Betty with delicious cornflake crust and rich cream.

Two cups of coffee and a glass of golden Sauterne.

If that isn't love, after twenty-nine years of married life, what is?

We had a most pleasant evening after the dinner.

We looked at our favorite television show. We laughed, we reminisced, we kissed good night, turned off the lights and went to peaceful sleep.

I do admit that twice, during the night, I woke up with a feeling that not a suitcase but a trunk was lying on my stomach.

I further admit that once during the night I got up and took some bicarbonate of soda.

But not once, during that night did I suspect my wife of attempted murder.

Not once did I think that the shrimps were used not as a token of love but as an insidious poison.

I might as well, when she snipped off a bit of my haid around the ears this morning, "because it was too long," have likened myself to Samson and her to Delilah.

4-H Clubs Are Making Gains

Over 28,000 State Youths Enrolled

By AL SPIVAK
(I. N. S. Pennsylvania Farm Editor)

HARRISBURG, March 1.—The 4-H club's goal of developing "head, hands, heart and health" is catching on to an increasing extent in Pennsylvania.

Enrollment in club units throughout the state reached another new high in 1950, according to the Pennsylvania State college agricultural extension service.

Enrolled in the program last year were 28,341 youths in rural areas, an increase of almost 2,000 over the previous year.

In addition, the service reports, 3,800 older boys and girls were enrolled in senior extension clubs conducting special programs of discussions, lectures, debates, recreation, vocational guidance and community service.

The service lists these major projects for members of agricultural 4-H clubs.

Baby beeves, pigs, dairy animals, lambs, rabbits, turkeys, capons, baby chicks, bees, home gardens, strawberries, tomatoes, sweet corn, field corn, potatoes, flowers, forestry, wildlife, tobacco and farm shops.

Club members produced 480 tons of beef and 366 tons of pork in 1950.

They cared for 2,565 dairy animals, raised 19,125 capons and 20,000 baby chicks, the service reported. Their gardens covered 90 acres and yielded products worth $26,450.

Tomatoes grown by members totaled 136 tons with a value of $8,160. Participants also harvested 72,000 bushels of potatoes and 96,800 dozen ears of sweet corn.

Estimated 1951 spring plantings of corn, oats, soybeans and vegetables in Pennsylvania are greater than in the past, according to production and marketing administration committee chairman Clyde A. Zehner.

He said Pennsylvania farmers probably will plant 1,415,000 acres of corn this spring, 850,000 acres of oats; 20,000 of soybeans for beans; 37,390 of fresh market vegetables and 63,890 of processed vegetables.

The statewide guide figures will be broken down by counties to form the basis for 1951 production plans for individual farmers, he explained.

Farmers will develop their own production plans, Zehner said, pointing out that they will be encouraged and assisted to have these plans include the necessary acreages to meet the county goals.

"But we will keep our goals efforts so flexible that the individual farmer will have the necessary leeway to keep up his land," he reported.

"Since production and conservation go hand in hand, the expected increase in production will require stepping up the conservation practices which maintain the productive capacity of the land," he added.

Plans for constructing a plywood self-feeder for swine are offered in state agricultural experiment station report number 39.

The device may be used as a general self-feeder or as a free-choice self-feeder, the report says, since compartments are provided for various grains and feeds.

The plans are available from county agents' offices or from the experiment station.

Ten Members Of State Cabinet Are Sworn In

HARRISBURG, March 1—(INS)—Ten of the 17 members in Gov. John S. Fine's cabinet took their oaths of office Wednesday at the state capitol.

Gene D. Smith, of Macungie, R.D., took his as commonwealth secretary and then administered oaths to the other nine cabinet officials.

They were Property and Supplies Secretary Alan D. Reynolds, of Pittsburgh; Mines Secretary Richard Maize, of Uniontown; Highways Secretary Ray F. Smock, of Meadville; Labor and Industry Secretary David M. Walker, of Philadelphia; Revenue Secretary Otto P. Messner, of Lancaster; Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, of Brookline, as public assistance secretary; State Police Commissioner Cecil M. Wilhelm, of Harrisburg; Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst, of Palmyra; and Artemas C. Leslie, of Pittsburgh, as insurance commissioner.

Dauphin county Judge Robert E. Woodside, of Millersburg, whose term as attorney general begins today, will be inducted formally next week.

Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre, will take his oath March 7 following his return from a vacation.

Others who will be sworn into office are F. A. Weber, of Beaver Falls, as adjutant general; Dr. Russell E. Teague, of Radnor, as health secretary; William C. Brown, of Philadelphia, as welfare secretary and L. M. Campbell, of Oil City, as banking secretary.

Fine's last cabinet nomination, Milo F. Draemel as forests and waters secretary, so far has failed to win the confirmation of the Senate.

Says Statistical Tricks Are Used By Soviet Union

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1—(INS)—A State Department source charged the Soviet Union with "statistical tricks" in the comparisons between Russian and Western power military strength contained in a week-end note to Great Britain.

This note charged the U. S., Britain and France had multiplied their armies while the Soviet Union was constantly demobilizing.

This official, who would not be quoted, said Russia took as a base figure the troops of the three Western powers in 1939, just prior to the outbreak of World War II.

At that time, he said, the three powers "and particularly the U. S. and the United Kingdom had very small armies."

He added the Russians also take the advantage of citing those forces at present in their army at home but carefully avoid mention of other Soviet forces which "for all practical purposes" are combat potentials.

Being Held In Reserve

The source amplified this by saying that huge classes have been demilitarized but are being held in reserve.

"They make no mention of satellite forces nor the sizeable forces of the Chinese Communists," he added.

"In short they attempt to justify the lack of demobilization at the end of the last war and indeed the building up of these forces by taking as a base period the year in which the Western powers had relatively small forces to make it appear that the buildup is in the West."

He also referred to the large number of troops stationed in the Balkans and Poland to "supply Soviet forces in Austria and eastern Germany.

It was not anticipated any formal U. S. statement on the latest Russian note to Britain will be forthcoming until after consultation with Britain, and possibly, after London has answered the note.

Officials generally regarded the invitation of the Kremlin for a two power conference with Britain on outstanding differences as another attempt to split the West.

Attractive Office Worker Sentenced To Industrial Home

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March 1.—(INS)—Louise Higgins, 30, attractive office worker who stole from her boss to play the horses, was sentenced to an indefinite term in the State Industrial Home at Muncy.

Miss Higgins pleaded guilty to forgery and fraudulent conversion indictments involving a $5,333 shortage in her accounts.

She was a $55-a-week assistant treasurer of the Kennett Equipment and Machinery Co. in Kennett Square, Pa.

District Attorney John M. Kurtz told Judge W. Butler Windle of Chester County court that the actual shortage was $42,635.

Charge Luciano Underworld Czar In United States

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—The Senate Crime committee declared Wednesday that one time New York vice lord Charles "Lucky" Luciano, now in Italy, is Czar of an "underworld government" in the United States.

The committee said the government is composed of "at least two major crime syndicates"—the Capone outfit in Chicago and a New York group headed by "Frank Costello and Joe Adonis."

The crime investigators reported that the underworld empire "enforces its own laws and carries out its own executions. And, they said, it is a serious menace to the nation's form of government.

The committee said:

"This secret government of crimesters is a serious menace which could, if not curbed, become the basis for a subversive movement which could wreck the very foundations of this country."

The Senators said that public confidence already has been undermined by these gangs and "to that extent has left many otherwise law-abiding citizens ripe for an approach to the bidding of anyone willing to pay a price."

Subway Gum Sales High In Millions

NEW YORK, March 1.—(INS)—It's not surprising that riders in the New York City subway system frequently sit on a wad of discarded gum.

The board of transportation announced today that 134 million sticks were sold in the subway vending machines last year. The riding public also consumed 185 tons of peanuts and 34,650,000 bits of chocolate.

After 15 years of being, Alcoholics Anonymous has almost 100,000 members.

State Police Say:

Safety is defined as the freedom from danger. Just how free from danger we are today on our streets and highways is reflected in daily press accounts of highway accidents. Safety is also a state of mind. The individual driver must condition his thinking to safe operation at all times before we can achieve freedom from danger. The pedestrian too must condition himself to the belief that his safety is his own responsibility.

Report 50,675 U.S. Casualties In Korea

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—The Defense Department's official list of American casualties in Korea today rose to 50,675, an increase of 1,543 over last week.

The new list includes 7,639 killed in action; 33,401 wounded, of whom 888 have died; and 9,635 missing.

The Army has suffered 41,951 casualties, the Marine Corps 7,728. The Navy 590 and the Air Force 406.

The official list is made up of casualties where the next of kin had been notified. The list lags about three weeks behind the actual total of Korean casualties.

Cooperatives Are Discussed

County Farmers Are Told Of Advantages

At a well attended meeting, held in the Court House, Wednesday evening, agricultural cooperatives were discussed, and the advantages to farmers pointed out.

The discussion was led by Kenneth Hood, of Penn State College extension department, and those taking part in the panel discussion, were; N. E. Sampson, of Wilmington township, representing the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association; R. P. Peebles, of the Lawrence County Cooperative Wool Growers Association; Albert McConnell, manager of the Lawrence County Farm Bureau Cooperative; Howard Humphrey, manager of the Eastern States Cooperative Exchange; and Glen Lockhart, of Hickory township, representing the Lawrence County Artificial Breeding Cooperative.

It was pointed out that these cooperatives reduce costs in marketing operations, for those which engage in selling farm products, also serving as a bargaining agent to stabilize markets. They do not tend, however, to bring higher prices than the product is worth on the market.

In regard to purchasing commodities used on the farm, cooperatives have done a great deal to improve the quality of seed, feed, and fertilizers, but cannot obtain prices and hold them below the market level.

Some, such as the artificial breeding cooperatives, obtain for the farmer, services which would not otherwise be available to him, bringing the service of better sires at a cost more reasonable than he could obtain in any other way.

Bidault Is Asked To Form Cabinet

PARIS, March 1.—(INS)—President Vincent Auriol called upon veteran Georges Bidault today to form a new cabinet succeeding that of Rene Pleven, who resigned last night in a dispute over electoral reform measures.

Bidault, a former premier and foreign minister, promised the president a reply tomorrow.

The crisis resulting from Pleven's resignation is regarded as the most serious that France has encountered since the liberation.

The fate of French democracy was seen involved in the crisis. Pleven turned down a request from President Auriol to form a new government on the ground that his wife is seriously ill.

GYM OVERSOLD

ADAMS, Mass. — The C. T. Plunkett junior high school was jarred when the state building inspector, David Milne, slashed its gymnasium seating capacity from 900 to 600. Besides losing one-third of its capacity, the school had to figure out what to do with the 900 season tickets sold.

The distance between the highest point of land and the lowest point in the ocean is approximately 12 miles.

Gen. Clay Urges Strong U.S. Force For Europe

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Gen. Lucius D. Clay told congress Wednesday that "within a year" western Europe will have a defense force strong enough to deter Russia from aggression.

The former military commander in Germany, testifying at the final senate hearings on the troops-for-Europe issue, also declared that:

1. Given a "reasonable number of divisions" Gen. Eisnhower's defense force would not be "overwhelmed" by the Russians.

Russians Not Ready

2. The Russians would have launched World War III by now "if they were ready". Clay said that if the North Atlantic powers move rapidly, Russia "may never be ready under their concept of readiness."

3. There is a "legacy of hate in Germany" for Russia but it is "not realistic" to expect German troops in the European army until Germany's political atmosphere has cleared. He said Germany should first be brought into the Atlantic pact.

4. Spain, Turkey and Greece should be utilized in the defense force and recognition should be made of the fact that Russia's satellites are seething with unrest. Clay said that in event of war large numbers of Russian and satellite troops would have to be held at home "to prevent revolt".

Must Contribute

Clay said that in his opinion "western Europe has recognized that it must contribute" but that this was not true in 1947 when he was in Germany and it appeared that communism would sweep western Europe.

The retired general also said the time has come to "realistically extend assistance in the form of military equipment to all countries in Europe willing to fight to preserve their independence".

He cautioned against a ratio or limitation on U. S. troops. He said this would "destroy the improvement in morale which has taken place" and nullify substantially the investments already made.

Clay, now an assistant to defense mobilizer Wilson, explained that it is "not more costly to support troops abroad than here."

"War When Soviets Ready"

He added:

"It is argued that to move ahead now may precipitate Soviet aggression. This I do not believe. The Soviet masters would have precipitated war now if they were ready. They will precipitate war when they believe they are ready.

"If we move rapidly and collectively, they may never be ready under their concept of readiness, with odds so heavily in their favor as to assure success."

Clay said America thereby could hope for peace even if it is "an armed truce over the years".

He said congressional approval without limitation now would indicate the "bold and vigorous leadership which should be our course today."

Seven Seeking To Build Pittsburgh Television Stations

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—Seven applicants have asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to build new television stations in Pittsburgh.

FCC action on these requests is frozen pending the lifting of the agency's two and one-half year old 'freeze' on new video construction.

The present TV allocation plan gives Pittsburgh four TV channels in the currently-used VHF (very high frequency) band.

Under a tentatively revised plan, the FCC has proposed to allocate to Pittsburgh two channels in the VHW and two in the virgin ultra-high frequency spectrum.

The FCC stressed the proposals may require revision after lengthy hearings—still unscheduled—are held on specific allocations. The Pittsburgh applicants are:

Allegheny Broadcasting Corp., Matta Broadcasting Co., Pittsburgh Radio Supply House, Inc., United Broadcasting Corp., WCAE, Inc., Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., and WWSW, Inc.

New Isolation Home Ready In Few Weeks

A movie on "The Role of the Public Health Nurse" was shown to a group of nurses and welfare workers, at the office of the Lawrence County T. B. Society, by Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary of the society. Explaining the work of the Public Health Nurse, the picture was in connection with the New Isolation Home that is being established in Lawrence county.

At the conclusion of the film, Mrs. Cochran introduced, Irwin W. Stunkard, assistant county school superintendent, who spoke on "What the Public Nurse can do to help the society operate a successful 'Isolation Home'." He stressed the point that their services will be needed and how they can follow-up on cases found, thus protecting the public from the disease.

Mr. Stunkard explained the operation of the new home, stating that this program being taken on by the society, had grown into a larger project that when it was started and that without the help of the County Commissioners it would not be possible to establish. The cost to the county has been approximately $3,500. It will cost the society approximately $4,000 to furnish the home with necessary equipment.

"Contributions have not come in as we had expected," Mr. Stunkard continued, "however, I feel that after the home has been in operation, the people of New Castle will realize what we are trying to accomplish, and will cooperate with us."

Will Need Nurses

In closing, Mr. Stunkard stated that he sincerely trusted that every nurse present, will offer her services when needed. Mr. Stunkard then asked for a report on the progress of the furnishing of the home from Mrs. Jessie M. Stenger, who then showed how the society has progressed during the past three years, and what it hoped to accomplish during the next few years, with the help of the people of Lawrence county.

Mrs. Stenger then introduced Mrs. Kathryne Homberg, the new matron of the Isolation Home. Mrs. Homberg will be in complete charge of the patients, until additional help can be established at the home. She will live at the home, and be available at all times. The home will be open for occupancy, April 1, 1951.

President Bars Flights Over Bomb Test Area

Truman Reveals Wish 'To Hit The Silk'

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—President Truman has revealed a new ambition—he wants to make a parachute jump.

The president told a group of airborne soldiers that he would have "hit the silk" earlier, but a general wouldn't let him.

Mr. Truman, talking to a group of men from the 82nd Airborne Division in the rose garden at the White House, told of an incident when he was inspecting the airborne fighting branch at Ft. Bragg during the war.

He said:

"I went up with the airborne people and wanted to jump out, and I almost got arrested by the Major General because he said he would be courtmartialed if I jumped out, so I didn't get to jump.

"I still have that anticipation and I hope someday to do it."

The president was a Senator at the time.

U.S. Forced To Buy Wool Now

Must Procure Huge Supply For Reserve

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1—(INS)—The United States is compelled to buy millions of pounds of wool for a war reserve in the inflated world market less than a year after getting rid of a huge supply of surplus wool held in government warehouses.

Officials of the Agriculture Department are bidding in the world's markets for 30 million pounds of wool for the war reserve. They are competing for dwindling world wool stocks with other nations alarmed over their national wool situations in the face of wartime demands.

The relatively small world wool stocks, plus the active bidding of other nations, officials say, is forcing prices the U. S. must pay to extremely high levels.

One official says the tragedy of the situation is that last March the Agriculture Department still owned almost 30 million pounds of wool—the amount the Army wants for an initial war reserve. That of course was before war broke out in Korea.

But a week after the Korean outbreak, the government still held about one half million pounds. At that time the Agriculture Department urged the munitions board to order a halt to governmental wool sales, but was turned down. A short time later all the wool was sold.

And officials point out that wool prices have doubled in the world market since Korea.

The U. S. in peacetime usually imports about 70 per cent of its wool supply. Although the domestic wool production is expected to be larger this year than last, the overwhelming bulk of U. S. military and civilian supplies must be bought in the world market at fabulous prices.

The Agriculture Department reports that U. S. 1950 tobacco exports were about five per cent lower than in 1949.

Exports of unmanufactured tobacco last year totaled 476.2 million pounds, valued at slightly more than 250 million dollars. Exports in 1949 amounted to 498.2 million pounds, valued at 252 million dollars.

The Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations says that United States trade—both exports and imports—was somewhat under 1949 last year.

Exports and imports in 1950 in terms of oil amounted to three billion, 299 million pounds, compared with three billion, 316 million pounds the year before.

The difference in the total volume of trade in fats and oils was made in a smaller amount of exports. Total fats and oils exports in 1950 were one billion, 901 million pounds, compared with two billion, 237 million in 1950.

Imports last year were up somewhat, totaling one billion, 307 million pounds, compared with one billion, 79 million in 1949.

Predict Freeze On Television Stations May End This Year

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—Two members of the Federal Communications Commission predicted Wednesday that the two-and-one-half-year-old freeze on new television station construction will end this year.

Chairman Wayne Coy and Commissioner Frieda Hennock believe a way has been found to add 42 additional TV channels to the existing 12, giving the nation Video coverage from 2,500 stations.

The freeze was imposed in September, 1948, because telecasting space was not available in sufficient quantity to satisfy the demands of the hundreds of potential station operators eager to ride the Video boom.

However, the FCC is perfecting plans for utilization of the heretofore unused ultra high frequencies, thus clearing the air, so to speak, for a greatly enlarged TV system.

Coy predicted that the ban will be lifted Sept. 30—the third anniversary of its imposition. But he hedged by acknowledging that he may be wrong and pointed out that expansion of the defense effort may shut off the necessary flow of raw materials.

Miss Hennock said she is convinced that licensing of new TV outlets will be resumed by the end of the year, but emphasized that it is impossible to estimate how rapidly applications can be processed.

The U. S. deficit for handling air mail during the past 11 years is less than the deficit from penny post cards in any one year.

Prober Says Head Of Democratic Party Is Cleared

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1—Democratic national chairman William Boyle got a clean bill of health today from one member of the senate's "influence" probing subcommittee—Sen. Douglas (D) Ill.

But Donald Dawson, president Truman's personnel adviser, was not so fortunate.

Douglas said that although Boyle's name has come up in the hearings on influence and political pressure on directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., "I do not see any testimony or the slightest bit of evidence showing that he has done anything wrong."

Of Dawson, however, Douglas insisted on confining his comment to:

"That is a separate matter."

Dawson Was Named

Dawson was named in the subcommittee's preliminary report as one of a group of men trying to "dominate" directors of the RFC, who have final say on issuance of hundreds of millions of dollars in government loans.

He has been identified by one witness as the source of the "considerable influence" in RFC matters held by E. Merl Young, husband of a White House stenographer, who is under a subcommittee charge of influence peddling.

The report said that Boyle and his assistants frequently introduced interested parties to RFC director Walter Dunham and that Dunham gave "special attention to matters in which the Democratic committee was interested." In addition, there has been testimony indicating a strong link between Boyel and Young.

The subcommittee is still undecided on whether to call the two presidential intimates to testify.

Ex-Massachusetts Councilman Sentenced For Tax Evasion

BOSTON, March 1.—(INS)—Alfred C. Gaunt, 68, former member of the Massachusetts governor's council, Wednesday, was taken by a Deputy U. S. Marshal to the Danbury, Conn., Federal penitentiary to serve an 18 months term for tax evasion.

Gaunt, Methuen textile magnate, also was fined $4,000. He surrendered at the U. S. Marshal's office and his last words to reporters were:

"I still believe I'm innocent."

Kiwanis Hears Lieut. Governor

Dr. L. D. Smith Gives Inspirational Talk

Addressing members of the New Castle Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in The Castleton, Dr. Lawrence D. Smith of Beaver Falls, lieutenant governor of district two, decried the tendencies of our times to get something for nothing, and to take the easiest way out in situations.

People no longer want to read good books, he stated, to stimulate their thinking. They want someone else to do their thinking, and they would rather get their education the easy way by looking at television. Even the children seem to be getting that way, Dr. Smith, who is superintendent of schools in Beaver Falls, said.

Most All Seeking Escape

The biggest sellers on the bookshelves today are the pulp magazines, and the children turn to the comics instead of something constructive. Everyone seems to be looking for an easy escape from the duties of life.

Parents don't want their children to walk more than three blocks to school, but still want to spend thousands of dollars to build gymnasiums to wear them out.

There seems to be a great outcropping of isms and socialistic programs, all designed to make people think they are incapable of striving against the situations of life.

Everything in life that is worthwhile, we pay for, he stated. We do not even get the love of our wives and children for nothing. We have to earn it.

Honor Paden's Memory

It is up to us as individuals and as Kiwanians to pick our path in life. We can pick the easy way and just flounder around, letting other people do our thinking and our working for us, or we can take the hard way and earn our niche in life.

Before concluding, he paid high tribute to the late Tom Paden, past lieutenant governor and past president of the New Castle Kiwanis club. He was always ready to serve his fellow man, Dr. Smith stated, and earned a measure of immortality beyond his years. We may not always reach our goal, he stated, but like Tom Paden, we can know that we have spent ourselves in a good cause.

The club passed resolutions of respect to the memory of Mr. Paden, and these with similar resolutions from the state and International Kiwanis, will be presented to Mr. Paden's family.

ON THE ROAD TO JERUSALEM

JESUS TAUGHT, BLESSED AND HEALED

Scripture—Mark 10.

Christ and Zebedee's children.

"Whosoever would become great among you, shall be your minister."
—Mark 10:43.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The events of this lesson all took place in February and March, A. D. 28. We recently had a lesson on Jesus' activities during one day, and the time depicted in today's lesson is surely an active one, although at the time the Lord was in semi-retirement training His disciples for carrying on His work after His departure from earth.

The scenes described here are nearly all in Perea, west of the Jordan, but the healing of the blind man was near Jericho, as the account says.

Answering the Pharisees, who were ever trying to get Jesus to say something by which they could trap Him; blessing little children; teaching the people, healing the afflicted, and training the disciples for their work, were among His activities during this period. He knew His time on earth was short, although He could not seem to make the apostles conscious of it.

The Pharisees asked Him, "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife?"

"What did Moses command you?" Jesus asked them.

"Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away," they said.

"For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept," said Jesus. "From the beginning of the creation God made them male and female; and they twain shall be one flesh; what therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

Later, in a house, Jesus enlarged upon His answers to the Pharisees. The Christian church has always considered marriage a sacred institution, and deplored the modern tendency to divorce—one of our major problems.

The beautiful story of Jesus blessing little children is next. Mothers came to the Lord, bringing their children that they might be blest. The disciples evidently thought this an interruption to their talk and a bother. They rebuked the mothers.

Jesus grew angry with them—He was "displeased"—and said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God."

"And He took them up in His arms, put His hands upon them, and blessed them."

This writer remembers a lovely song we used to sing about this episode in Sunday school, wherein a child wishes he had been present at that time and that he might have had the Master's arm around him and "seen His kind look when He said, 'Let the little ones come unto Me'."

Does anyone recall the song and is it sung now?

This lesson also includes the story of the young man who came to Christ, and, kneeling at His feet, asked what he must do to be saved. Jesus told him to obey the moral laws, and he said he had done so all his life.

Then, said Jesus, "go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, take up thy cross, and follow Me."

Mark says Jesus looked at the young man and loved him, but the youth went away sorrowing, for he could not bring himself to part with his wealth. Maybe he found out later that riches do not necessarily bring happiness. They may fly away. We never hear about him any more. If he had done as Christ asked, he, too, might now be one of the saints.

Jesus and His followers started their journey to Jerusalem at this time—the last journey of Jesus to that city. Once more He told His disciples of what awaited Him there, but their minds were on other things. James and John sons of Zebedee, asked a favor of their Master:

"Grant unto us that we may sit, one on Thy right hand, and the other on Thy left hand, in Thy glory."

What a small, selfish request to be made at such a time! Jesus asked them if they could face the torture and martyrdom that He was facing.

They said they could, and He answered them that that fate was surely in store for them, but even so, He had no power to say who should sit on His right side or His left. The other disciples, naturally were displeased with James and John.

Jesus emphasized again what He had told them before, that he who would be greatest among them—deserving of honors—should be their minister—even as He came to minister unto others, not to be served by them.

On the road to Jericho, a blind man named Bartimaeus, cried to Christ for help. Jesus healed him because he had faith.

Doesn't this lesson make us feel ashamed of our rebellion against our responsibilities? Learn to "minister unto others", and not only shall we have God's approval, but our lives—even the world at large—will be the better for our having lived.

INDUSTRIAL FATALITIES

HARRISBURG, March 1.—(INS)—Fatalities in Pennsylvania industries jumped from 79 in December to 90 in January, the Labor and Industry Department reported today.

Of the total, 22 occurred in manufacturing industries and 68 in non-manufacturing plants. There were 71 industrial fatals in January, 1950.

Total injuries rose to 8723, a 9.1 percent increase over the previous month during the period.

PRETTY PICKLED PEPPERS

Butch tried to tell about Peter Pepper Piper but his tongue got twisted. He would rather eat the peppers anyhow.

He likes the music and the taste.

Mom knows what Butch likes and what Susie doesn't like. She knows that they need protein and lime and minerals and vitamins.

Butch will drink all the milk he can get but Susie doesn't like milk to drink.

Mom does'nt fuss about that. She figures out ways to give Susie all the milk she needs. There are other ways to kill a cat besides choking it with butter.

Mom makes puddings and cakes and pies and a lot of good things with milk in them. Susie goes to town on the good eats and never thinks about the milk.

She likes pickled peppers and Butch likes them raw. They help the good work along either way, so why worry?

Loses Gallant Fight For Life Following Accidental Burning

PHILADELPHIA, March 1. — (INS)—Francis Burns, 32, burned over 95 percent of his body, died Wednesday after a gallant two-week battle for life.

Burns, a Budd Co., worker, had astounded physicians at Woman's Medical College. They marveled at the fact that he did not die within several hours after the accident.

The victim, burned when his clothes caught fire, had been treated with a new technique in which affected areas were painted with a blood solution known as Hes.

Treatment Of Alcoholism

(By An Alcoholic)

The victim of alcoholism suffers from mental, physical and social disorders which he has not been able to treat, correct or solve for himself. For the purpose of rehabilitation or recovery, all of the factors having any bearing on the alcoholic's disordered personality must be considered in any course of treatment. It is essential to bear in mind that we speak of rehabilitation or recovery rather than "cure" because there is no cure for alcoholism, at least to date.

A cure would imply that the compulsion underlying alcoholism would be removed. It would further imply that the alcoholic could resume drinking without experiencing any of the difficulties previously associated with his uncontrolled drinking. All evidence gathered thus far clearly rules out the possibility of an alcoholic ever becoming a moderate, controlled drinker. The objective of all treatments is to stop the drinking and correct the personality defects of the individual so that he can become a contented, useful person without the use of alcohol.

Since alcoholism is an illness, it is a medical problem and a physician or psychiatrist interested in the problem should be consulted whenever possible. Diagnosis of the underlying causes—mental, physical or social—responsible for the excessive uncontrolled drinking should be determined at the outset in order to prescribe the most effective treatment for the individual afflicted.

There are many forms of treatment employed for alcoholism including psychiatry, psychoanalysis, conditioned-reflex treatment, hospitalization, religious conversion, Alcoholics Anonymous, and others. All have played a part in the story of rehabilitation. No one of these treatments should be expected to produce recovery for all alcoholics. In every case where a drinker is suffering from the physical effects of a prolonged drinking bout, hospitalization should be made as quickly as possible to prevent serious complications. Physical recovery is essential before attempting to treat the underlying causes of the compulsion to drink. Perhaps physical diseases or disorders of a serious nature are directly responsible for one using alcohol as a pain killer. Medical attention will rule out such possibilities or establish them, as the case may be. Once the alcoholic has been "dried out" and his physical distress reduced, measures may then be prescribed to treat the basic causes. Since each alcoholic presents an individual problem, professional diagnosis tends to eliminate haphazard, costly ventures in trial and error treatment.

Alcoholism is sometimes a symptom of a grave mental disorder which requires confinement in an institution. However, the majority of alcoholics do not suffer from such deep-seated complications and usually respond favorably to appropriate treatment—provided they have a sincere desire to recover and believe that recovery is possible.

The aversion or conditioned-reflex treatment requires that the patient be hospitalized for a period—perhaps two or three weeks. During the course of treatment, the patient is given intermittent doses of alcohol quickly followed by medicine to induce vomiting and lingering nausea. In time, this repeated process builds up an automatic aversion to the taste, sight, scent or thought of liquor. This aversion, however, will not last indefinitely once the patient is discharged. It must be reinforced from time to time. If the patient supports this treatment with group therapy such as is practiced by recovered alcoholics, the abersion treatment can be a most effective initial help along the route to recovery.

Psychiatric treatment begins with the doctor's attempt to help the patient develop insight of his own so that he will learn and understand for himself more about the unconscious motives and urges which have led him to use alcohol excessively. Frequently, patients can be taught to see how futile are their attempts to escape by way of alcohol and thus become less apt to use alcohol when confronted with future distressing problems. The patient is made to realize that for him, drinking in moderation is an impossibilty. He is helped to understand himself and to know that the fault is not the bottle, but in himself. With the growth of insight comes the decline of dependence on alcohol and the birth of a sincere desire to recover. Such treatment is not of short duration and, of course, is not available to all due to shortage of facilities for such.

The Clinic approach to alcoholism is a most effective recovery measure, but there are all too few in this country. Clinics patterned after those established and operated by the Yale Plan have proven unusually helpful in salvaging difficult alcoholic cases. These clinics are staffed with doctors, psychiatrists, social workers, lay-therapists, and investigators skilled in the techniques of handling every phase of the alcoholic's personality problems and the factors influencing him. Physical, mental and material difficulties are analyzed at the clinic and every effort expended to correct them. There is urgent need for more of these clinics on the community level to care for the large group of neglected alcoholics who could be salvaged were proper care and guidance to be exercised. Jails and workhouses have miserably failed as remedies. Much less costly and far more effective measures could be introduced with the establishment of community clinics. Every citizen can contribute to the cause of rehabilitation by supporting plans for community clinics, or by lending their active assistance to those already in operation.

Eighteen To Serve As 'Guinea Pigs' In Seeking Cure

SAN PEDRO, Calif., March 1.—(INS)—Eighteen victims of muscular dystrophy will serve as human "guinea pigs" in a 90-day experiment to find a cure for crippling disease which deteriorates the body muscles.

J. A. Robinson of San Pedro, president of B'nai B'rith's Leo N. Levi Memorial hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., disclosed the experiments would begin at the institution next Monday.

The 18 selected to participate in the experiment were picked from a list of 300 applicants suffering from the little known disease in all parts of the nation.

Robinson said the new formula was found by the hospital's research chairman, Dr Manuel Borsook of Los Angeles, and two associates, Drs. Vernon E. Van Zandt and Bernard Lavine.

He said they analyzed chemical differences in the blood of well persons and those suffering from the disease. He said the researchers believe they have produced in the laboratory the substance missing from the blood of the victims.

Robinson said the formula will be produced commercially if the experiment is successful.

There are an estimated 200,000 muscular dystrophy victims in the United States.

Hopes For Peace Treaty With Japan Soon After Mid-Year

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—Ambassador-At-Large John Foster Dulles expressed the hope today that the Japanese peace treaty with the United States will be signed soon after the middle of this year.

Dulles, after a prolonged tour of the Pacific, told his first news conference since returning that the target date for completion of the treaty is 1951 and that he hopes for the mid-year deadline.

Dulles also revealed that the Soviet Union has gone well beyond provisions made at Yalta whereby it was given the Kurile Islands and South Sakhalin.

The Russians, he said, have taken several small islands never considered a part of the Kuriles laying as close as 300 meters off the east coast of Hokkaido, northernmost of the Japanese chain.

As a result, he said, Japanese fishing boats cannot pass to the north of Hokkaido.

Dulles declined to discuss what views he brought back on the creation of a Pacific pact, as suggested by New Zealand and Australia, saying he will deal with that aspect in a radio address tomorrow night.

Little Stories Tell Big Story Of Marshall Plan Aid

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON — Little stories tell the big story of Marshall aid. The idea of the Marshall Plan, which has poured out nearly $11 billion as of January 31, 1951, is too big to grasp in mere terms of dollar-statistics. However, many a "little person" has a personal Marshall story to tell as human as the legend of the Dutch boy sticking his finger in the dike to save his country from flooding.

What the tulip grower in Holland thinks about the Marshall Plan— from his own experience— demonstrates simply how the Economic Co-operation Administration has made friends and influenced people at a time of survival-importance to our own people.

Here are some of the "little stories" from just one of the 18 Marshall Plan countries, The Netherlands:

Dutch mothers, fearing the scourge of tuberculosis among their children, breathed a sigh of thanksgiving when ECA sponsored eliminating TB in Dutch dairy cattle.

A woodworking factory, which manufactured something called a "swallow-tail" powdered-milk case, was facing bankruptcy when such cases no longer were wanted. ECA modified the "swallow-tail" machinery and today it's turning out doors, window sashes and crates.

Some 500 Dutch farmers are now growing strange "herb" crops non-existent in Holland four years ago.

The little Dutch town of Uden faced a fast growing population and few jobs. With ECA aid, a 60-acre plot was set aside; 25 miles of roads were hard-surfaced; water, sewer, telephone, gas and electricity were installed; come-on literature distributed to the press. Result: Eight small concerns came in to manufacture such diverse products as corsets and bicycle parts. Some 800 residents of Uden got jobs.

Many a restaurant, hotel or cafe owner sings ECA praises for the booming tourist trade. ECA had Dutch hotel experts visit the United States, study American methods the better to please tourists and then launched a publicity campaign.

Mechanics were badly needed. ECA enabled 37 labor training schools throughout Holland to increase enrollments from 3,000 to 7,000 in one year.

Marshall Plan incubators (called "isolettes") have saved the lives of hundreds of premature babies.

These are the "little stories" ignoring the great industrialization of Holland, the expansion of its chief export of tulip bulbs and shipping. Most of the "little miracles" were wrought with what's called "counterpart funds," meaning the transactions are in local currency—not in dollars. The Dutch "match" ECA funds.

At this very moment these little stories may be decisive in swinging the powers-that-be in The Hague toward cooperation with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in organizing a European army.

Holland, hard hit by war destruction, the break with Indonesia and long occupation by the Nazis, is understandably reluctant to strain her new ECA-reinforced economy by large expeditures for military purposes. Holland is small and her contribution to the first European army to stop aggression is called "to small to matter." Neutrality is an attractive prospect—but not possible.

General Eisenhower is depending largely on the widespread ECA missionary work to swing the Dutch parliament into line with those of the rest of the 12 North Atlantic Treaty countries.

Ten McKees Rocks Borough Employes Under Indictment

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—(INS)—Burgess David Hershman and police chief Nicholas Antonelli of nearby McKees Rocks headed a list of 10 borough employes indicted Wednesday by the February grand jury.

The grand jury handed down a total of 30 separate indictments on the recommendation of the state's "free work" grand jury which has probed vice conditions in the Pittsburgh district.

Eight firemen, including chief Thomas Cairns, were listed in indictments covering $5,000 shortage in funds of the McKees Rocks Firemen's Protective Association.

The indictments against Hershman and Antonelli charged them with misdemeanor in office and conspiracy.

Americans eat less candy than they did five years ago. Candy consumption dropped from 20.5 pounds per person in 1944 to 17.3 pounds in 1949.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 1—Stuart Erwin and June Collyer who celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary next month find that what with their "Troubles of Father" series on television they have more fans than ever these days.

Hollywood's happiest couple, now the parents of two 'teen age youngsters, are sold on the new medium for their talents and do not mind commuting from their Park Avenue apartment in New York at least twice a year for the popular TV series.

Can't Tell Difference

Hard at work at Hal Roach studios in filming the 32nd of their half-hour shows, the couple thinks that in time just about everything aired on television will be on film.

"Most people can't tell the difference between live and filmed TV shows anyway," says June, who is still as lovely as when she appeared in such Fox and Paramount movies as "Dude Ranch," "Four Sons," "Eastside Westside," "Not Quite Decent" and 'The Love Doctor."

She related:

"People have asked us for tickets to the broadcasts, not knowing that the series is filmed in Hollywood months and months before. Once when Stu and I were dining out on a Saturday night, the waiter kept hovering around us and finally asked if we weren't worried about being late for the studio. Our show was to go on the air in about ten minutes."

Hard Workers

Erwin, the Squaw Valley, Cal., boy who made good in Hollywood, divides his time between television and pictures, with a stage play thrown in for good measure once in awhile. Last summer he did "Harvey" on the straw hat circuit. His latest Hollywood film was "Father Is A Bachelor."

Both of the Erwins receive daily fan mail from mothers and fathers who want the television couple to help them solve their own family problems.

One sound stage at Roach is given over to the "Troubles of Father" series. Permanent sets have been constructed for the popular series, which is due to be a Saturday night feature for at least another year.

Pollard On Vacation

Snub Pollard one of the great comedians of silent days took off for Australia as soon as he finished his 225th Hollywood movie, "I Was A Communist for the FBI," for Warner Bros.

The 62-year-old actor, a contemporary of Harold Lloyd, Chester Conklin, Ben Turpin, Charlie Murray and Ford Sterling, has not been back to Melbourne, where he was born, for some time and he wanted to visit all the haunts of his boyhood.

PASSERSBY

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Mrs. Mabel Pachaecek complained to police that she was standing on the famous corner of Hollywoid and Vine when she was held up and robbed of $294. A young woman and an older man did the job. Mrs. Pachaecek added: "At least two thousand persons were around us, but nobody paid any attention."

News Briefs From City Hall

Some members of the Officers and Employes Retirement system, whose fund was ordered dissolved in a Lawrence County court decision recently, are considering the advisability of taking an appeal from the court decision.

Police Chief Robert D. Hanna has imposed a no parking rule for 100 feet, east of East Washington street, in Butler Avenue, on the south side of the avenue. Yellow lines, denoting a no parking area, will be painted today.

No parking signs are to be placed on both sides of Highland avenue, between Edgewood avenue and the city line, according to Police Chief Robert D. Hanna.

With the addition of two new four-way lights, one at Long avenue and South Jefferson street, and the other at Garfield and Wilmington avenue, there are now 22 four-way lights in the city. There are also three Flasher signals and several new traffic signals proposed.

Says North Korean Premier Sick Man

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, March 1. — (INS) — A 25-year-old Korean nurse who claims she was assigned personally to the North Korean Premier Kim Il-Sung said Thursday that he is a sick man and that a number of doubles substitute for him on many occasions to protect his life.

Nurse Cho Ok-Hi escaped from Red Korea as the United Nations forces withdrew from Pyongyang and now is working with intelligence in the army of the Republic or Korea.

The exact nature of her work is a military secret.

Miss Cho drew an unflattering picture of Kim Il-Sung as a man who has ruined his health with lusty excesses and who is under almost constant medical care.

She said young women working as stenographers and secretaries in the Red capital fear his excesses.

Changes In State Health Department Program Planned

HARRISBURG, March 1.—(INS)—Administration-backed legislation to be introduced in the legislature next week will propose revision of the State Health Department system of employing and promoting personnel.

A companion measure would permit political sub-divisions to establish Health departments by local referendum. Under present law only Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are allowed full-time health agencies.

Legal experts from the Universities of Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh law schools and public health authorities are polishing technicalities of the proposed laws, according to Health Secretary Russell E. Teague.

The first measure, he explained, will be in form of an amendment to the present administrative code providing for the Board of Health to set up a merit system for personnel.

The companion bill will be known as the "Local Health Administration Law," according to Teague .

More than 100 nations require that motor vehicles be driven on the right side of the street; 85 enforce a left-hand rule.

Industrial Street Is Being Much Improved

It looks as if Industrial street, running east of Pennsylvania railroad south from Mahoning avenue is being put into good shape.

The ship docked at Naples. He was given leave from the ship to visit several uncles and aunts in Rome and Statigliano, near Naples, and Ostia, near Rome. He enjoyed the visits with his relatives, who received him graciously. They took him in a horse and buggy to visit relatives and places of interest. He spent several days in Rome. Relatives were very happy to see him and desired that his parents come and visit them.

The destroyer Moale expects to also visit Turkey and Greece, then return to the United States. Domenick has been in the service almost four years and has been stationed in Norfolk, Va. He enlisted when 17 years of age and graduated from New Castle high school in June, 1947.

Asks Effort To Curb Accidents Around Schools

HARRISBURG, March 1.—(INS)—Public instruction superintendent Francis B. Haas today asked public school officials to make an effort to curb the high rate of accidents in and around school buildings.

Haas reported that 93,825 of the million and a half school children were injured in accidents of all types in the 1949-50 school year. Approximately 45.5 per cent occurred in school buildings and 44 per cent on school grounds, he added.

The smallest percentage was hurt in accidents to and from school.

Haas credited the traffic safety program with reducing accidents in the latter category and told school officials that "developing an awareness" of the building accidents can reduce them to the low percentage of accidents reported to and from school.

He said this is the first year a breakdown of school accidents has been reported.

Denise Darcel In Trial Separation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 1—(INS) — Denise Darcel, blonde French actress-singer, said today that she and husband Peter Crosby are having a 'trial separation" following an incident in a New York night club in which he threw champagne in her face.

Miss Darcel, who is singing at a swank Miami Beach night spot, added quickly, however, that she does not plan to seek a divorce—yet.

With her French accent emphasizing her words, she remarked: "He threw wheeskey een my face for no reason at all. My heart ees broken. Zat was zee climax."

YANKS USE BAYONETS IN CLOSE FIGHTING

—Acme Telephoto

SOUTH KOREA—Infantry man kneels ready to pick off enemy coming from a burning building as the Allies "killer" offensive drives on Seoul. Much of the recent fighting has been hand-to-hand and the Yanks have been using their bayonets extensively, something little heard of during early fighting in Korea.

Adequate Training For All Guardsmen Before Going Overseas

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins declared Wednesday that no member of the 45th National Guard Division will be sent overseas without adequate military training.

The army chief of staff gave this assurance to Rep. Bates (R) Mass., when the congressman informed him of complaints regarding men with lack of training.

Collins said:

"They will be removed from any of these National Guard Divisions before they go overseas."

The 45th Division, which includes Massachusetts men, is now training at Camp Polk, La.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, March 1—(INS)—Raincoats will be two-faced and double-dutied this spring.

Manufacturers of high-fashion drizzle-togs have decided that any 1951 raincoat should be capable of subbing as a sunny weather garment.

Hence—few of the new models will look like they're water repellent.

Most raincoats will be fashioned on the "pyramid" silhouette, sloping at the shoulder and flaring at the hem. Many will be reversible, with patterned material on one side and plain on the other.

Truman Would Like To Return To Senate Seat

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—President Truman told his former colleagues today during a surprise visit to the Senate floor that his wish is to "return permanently" to that body.

Mr. Truman presented a gavel fashioned from 135-year-old White House wood to Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

President Truman has told intimates that if he could do what he wished, he would prefer not to stay in the presidency but run for his old Senate seat in the Senate now held by Sen. Kem (R) Mo.

And in the course of his remarks before the Senate and those of the vice president, the chief executive spoke his desire to be able to return to the chamber where he served for ten years.

Mr. Truman, obviously enjoying his return to old scenes, explained the present was in commemoration of the 38 years Barkley will have served in Congress next Sunday.

Youth Wounds Three Persons At Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, March 1.—(INS)—A 20-year-old youth who said he "got mad" rampaged the resort city of Palm Beach last night, wounding his father, grandmother and a police officer in a five-hour spree.

Hugh Barry eluded more than 100 officers before he surrendered without resistance just a few blocks from his father's home near the palatial winter estates of many wealthy families.

The shotgun he had bought a few hours before the shooting was jammed and police said he was "dazed". Fourteen unused shells were in his pocket.

Wild Attack Starts

Barry's mother told police the wild attack began after dinner when the youth loaded his gun and fired at his 80-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Hugh McLung, and his 59-year-old father, Thomas. Mrs. McLung was wounded critically.

The youth told police later that he shot his grandmother because she promised to leave him $600,000 when she died.

Police arrived at the home to find Mrs. Barry running out of the house and shouting:

"My son has gone crazy. He is shooting at everything."

Mrs. Barry jumped into the patrol car which sped away as the youth blasted the rear of the auto with his gun.

Palm Beach police conducted one of their biggest manhunts in years to track down the will-o'-the-wisp gunman who raced thru the gold coast city firing random shots into the air.

New Red Probe Of Hollywood Will Start On Thursday

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—The House un-American Activities Committee revealed today that its new investigation of communism in Hollywood will open next Thursday with a preliminary hearing.

Chairman Wood (D) Ga., said the committee will hear V. J. Jerome, identified in the 1947 Hollywood hearings as one of the directors of Communist party activities in the motion picture industry.

Jerome is the head of the Communist party's cultural commission. He has been subpoenaed by the committee to start the ball rolling in its renewed effort to uncover Red activities in Hollywood.

Wood said the first hearing will not mark a full-fledged beginning of the new Hollywood hearings. No definite date has been set yet for appearance of movie personalities.

Two committee investigators are now in Hollywood serving subpoenas on actors, actresses, writers and directors for appearance in Washington March 21, a tentative date.

The only one identified so far is Larry Parks, star of "The Jolson Story."

Report $200,000 Loss In Sunbury Fire

SUNBURY, Pa., March 1—(INS)—A $200,000 loss was estimated today in the wake of a general alarm fire which swept through the Sunbury Milk Products plant.

The building was destroyed and an adjoining ice house partially burned by the flames said to have started last night in the main plant.

Two men were injured slightly fighting the fire—one a firm employe and the other a fireman from one of the eight companies answering the alarm.

A parked freight car blocked fire hydrants and hampered firemen's attempt to battle the blaze.

An elm that does justice to the second line of Joyce Kilmer's immortal poem.

TREE AND FOREST FACTS

Counting a few long naturalized species there are 128 different kinds of trees native to Pennsylvania. In all of Europe, not counting Russia, there are only 85. Counting the 228 varieties and the 87 hybrids, there is a total of 1,177 different forms of trees in the United States.

Even one who is reasonably interested in trees is not very much impressed by the foregoing figures until he learns that in all of England there are only 29 species; France 34; Germany 60. We have no figures available for Lawrence county, yet, it is safe to state that there are more species found here than in Germany.

Dogwoods bloom in profusion in many parts of our country. The same can be said of locusts. Yet, only the most rabid nature fans will bother to go out for a look. Visiting Britishers are awed by the beauty of some American trees in full flower. The blossoms of English trees are inconspicuous since most of them are oaks and beeches. Oaks and beeches have blossoms, but have you ever seen them? Incidentally, if we have one or two more mild days the soft maples will burst into full bloom.

Of the many kinds of trees only 34 softwoods and 70 hardwoods are commercially important. In the language of the lumberman, generally speaking, hardwoods are broadleaved trees; softwoods bear needles. These terms have nothing to do with the actual hardness of the wood ,since some hardwoods are softer than some of the so-called softwoods. Most hardwoods are deciduous, meaning that they shed their foliage annually, while most softwoods retain their leaves for more than one year.

Many people believe that all conifers or cone-bearing trees are evergreens. As a matter of fact, the larch and the cypress both shed their needles every year. There is one broadleaf tree, called the gingko, which botanically is not a hardwood. The gingko has the distinction of being the oldest remaining species of a prehistoric order of trees. There are several of them on the west end of the Diamond. The foliage of the gingko does not consist of true leaves, rather they might be likened to flattened needles. Conventional hardwood leaves like those of maple and oak are provided with veins which give support and also act as conductive vessels, carrying the sap and other products. Gingko leaves are provided with structures that materially strengthen them. However, they are more like pleats.

Trees age and grow and mature just like other living things. Some kinds of trees, such as aspen, seldom live more than 70 or 80 years. Others may attain an age of several hundred or even thousands of years. John Muir the famous natuarlist counted the rings in the stump of a giant sequoia and found it to be more than 4,000 years old. There are no positive records showing that one of these big trees ever died of old age. This also applies to the redwood. The largest sequoia in eastern North America stands along a fence near Lima, Chester county, Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania is the meeting ground of the northern and southern species of trees; those from the south advancing up our large river valleys, while the northern species follow the Allegheny highlands. This accounts in part for the many types of trees found in our state.

When the country was new it is calculated that 822 million acres were forest covered. The present forestland area is about 630 million acres. In a single plot our forest lands would make a tract 2,500 miles long by 387 miles wide.

The world's total forested area is divided as follows: United States has 9.1 percent, Russia 21.1 percent, British Commonwealth of Nations 21 percent, Brazil 13.4 percent. The balance is divided among 50 other nations.

Wood is growing in our forests at the rate of 11 billion cubic feet per year. It is being taken from the forests at the rate of about 13 billion cubic feet per year. Two billion cubic feet annually is lost to fire, insects, and disease.

Gasoline Stocks Hit New All-Time High

NEW YORK, March 10—(INS)—The American Petroleum Institute reported gasoline stocks reached 136,870,000 barrels for the week ending Feb. 24, an all time high for gasoline inventories.

According to the institute, gasoline stocks last week jumped 2,272,000 barrels over the previous week.

Gasoline stocks in storage at this time last year totaled 133,888,000.

The institute, in its review of industry operations, reported daily crude oil production, including condensate at 5,945,150 barrels. This was an increase of 8,250 barrels over the previous week.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Ray Milland has grown weary of the alcoholic typing that has bedeviled him ever since his Academy Award performance in "Lost Weeeknd". Canadian Province Shrinking In Size

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., March 1.—(INS)—Walter Jones, premier of Prince Edward Island, expressed concern today because the Canadian Province is shrinking two ways.

The Atlantic Ocean is chewing away at the island's coastline at a rapid rate and the population is migrating to the United States and the Canadian mainland.

The island's present population is 80,000 but more than four times that number have moved to New England.

See New Record For Cigarettes

Mobilizing Americans To Puff To New Record

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—Mobilizing Americans are expected to puff themselves to a new cigaret consumption record as they busy themselves with the nation's war preparations.

Back in the early fall the Agriculture department predicted that the nation would smoke a new record amount of cigarets this year. But more up-to-date information shows that smokers will burn away even more tobacco than was earlier thought.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan has asked farmers to plant from 12 to 14 percent more acres to burley and flue-cured tobacco—major cigaret types—this year to meet the great demand.

Brannan upped his request for flue-cured tobacco from one Billion, 235 million pounds this year to one billion, 297 million pounds. He asked for an increase of almost 40 million pounds of burley from a previously announced goal of 542 million pounds.

This will mean, he says, that each farm will increase flue-cured tobacco acreages by about 14 percent and burley by about 12 percent.

Cigaret consumption in 1950 smashed all previous records. Smokers pulled through about 363 billion butts last year. That was three percent more than in 1949.

The experts say the greater tobacco consumption will be due to harder work throughout the nation. Secretary Brannan says:

"We want to be on the safe side, production-wise, during the defense emergency, and we anticipate that a higher level of industrial activity will stimulate the demand for these tobaccos."

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that wool growers made a total of 126 million dollars on shorn wool last year.

That was about 19 million dollars more than in 1949 and one and a quarter million dollars more than the 10-year average.

The increase in cash receipts for shorn wool, the bureau says, was due to an increase in wool production and record high prices.

Meat production under federal inspection declined last week, the Agriculture department says, because of the Washington's birthday holiday, the lenten season and increasing consumer resistance to meat prices.

Total meat production last week amounted to 272 million pounds, six percent less than the week before.

KLAGENFURT, Austria, March 1.—(INS)—A British court martial convicted British Army Sergeant John Dempsey on espionage charges Wednesday and sentenced him to 10 years of imprisonment.

When the trial of Dempsey, 28, began two days ago in secrecy it was believed that he had been charged with spying for Russia. But the official announcement said only that he was found guilty of three violations of the British official secrets act and 38 other charges, including theft and possession of false documents.

Trains Derailed Near Duncannon

DUNCANNON, Pa., March 1.—(INS)—The four tracks on the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line was blocked for four hours early today by a derailment involving two east bound freight trains on different tracks.

A railroad spokesman said the fifth car from the end of a 75-car freight train jumped the track in the path of a locomotive carrying 21 empty mail cars. The locomotive and mail cars were derailed, but no one was injured.

East and westbound trains were rerouted over the Bald Eagle branch, via Tyrone, Lockhaven and Williamsport.

The spokesman said cause of the derailment was unknown.

Dimunitive And Feminine

WASHINGTON, D.C., Mar. 1—Volumes have been written about Anna Rosenberg since she came to Washington last November at Gen. George C. Marshall's specific request as assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower.

She has been presented to the public as a cross between a human dynamo, a super-duper mechanical brain and a rough-and-tough straw boss with—in emergencies—the vocabulary of a mule skinner.

There is a grain of truth in all of this. But somewhere, in the wordy shuffle, even her friendliest critics have somehow overlooked Anna's secret weapon: Her everlasting femininity.

For the new assistant secretary of defense is tiny, feminine as a powder puff, very chic, fastidiously groomed and extremely attractive. Her beautiful large brown eyes can be either melting or molten, with equal effect.

Because she is so diminutive and feminine,, Anna brings out the old chivalric, protective instinct in men—even when she is giving them unshirted hell.

Harder They Fall

At the close of a conference with a labor leader, business mogul or four-star general, Anna may look up at him and say appealingly "I want you to love me." The bigger and tougher they are, the harder they fall. The brutes are apt to leave her office in such a daze of good feeling as to do exactly what Anna wanted them to do in the first place.

In the middle of a crisis, this foremost American expert on manpower problems, reacts like any other woman: She soothes her ruffled feathers by buying herself a new hat or its aquivalent.

A year or so ago, when Anna was called in to settle a strike in the brewing industry, she wrestled for ten days with the beer barons and labor leaders, both of whom she found equally difficult. At the end of ten days, she was furious with both sides. Anna told them off in no uncertain terms, and stormed out and up Fifth avenue.

She headed like a homing pigeon for Bergdoff-Goodman's and demanded the "most beautiful, frivolous, senseless dress" in the store. It turned out to be a white organdie ball gown, printed in pink roses, with a sash to cinch in her tiny waist and an enormous skirt to flutter in Viennese waltzes.

Marched Back

Then Anna, restored, marched back to the conference room, knocked the heads of capital and labor together and briskly put an end to the strike.

Anna sighed when she spoke about it the other day. "Honestly, it's the most beautiful dress I ever had," said the assistant secretary of defense.

But she has not had it on since she came to Washington. In the three months since she has been on the new job, Anna has dined out only three times. It is an event when she leaves the Pentagon by 8 p.m.

"But this week, I have promised to go to the movies with the girls in the office," she said. "I guess we all need it. I am ashamed to tell you how hard they work. My hours are indecent!

"But after all the other work is done, there is the correspondence. And I must answer it all personally. This is the age of anxiety. There is so much insecurity in our time, and so many worried people write me. They write me about sons and husbands. And I try to see what their problems are."

So the woman who is supposed to be a brilliant robot sits up half the night, investigating other people's problems and answering their letters.

Recently a young officer on her staff was asked if the long hours and the work pacing set by Mrs. Rosenberg weren't killing. He said, no, that the staff was crazy about her, that no matter how much hell she might give generals and admirals, she never said a cross word to her aides, and that she always worked later and harder than any one else.

"And if I didn't work nights, I'd just go to the movies," the officer said, and added, "and what show could possibly be as exciting as Mrs. Rosenberg?"

Full Impact Of Defense Program Later This Year

NEW YORK, March 1—(INS)—Iron Age says that the full impact of the defense program will be felt in the third quarter of 1951 and metal users will face their most critical test in that period.

The Metalworking Weekly said that although some of them already have been "curtailed by restrictions and frustrated by uncertainty, the worst has yet to come." It added that at the same time the newly-launched controlled materials program will be "on its shakedown cruise." Iron Age said:

"This week there is a wild scramble among manufacturers striving to get defense orders placed which just don't exist. Although more and more defense orders are being placed, they obviously are not keeping pace with material restrictions placed on manufacturers.

"Some of the largest orders will require many months of tooling before they employ many workers and large plant facilities. Meanwhile, metal working plants are being squeezed by lack of materials for peacetime output and lack of orders for military output."

This week, the weekly said, there was a critical shortage of alloy steel and all types of steel products are more scarce than ever.

MODERN NEWS

PITTSBURG, Kans.—(INS)—A new era in newspaper production may be inaugurated in a class to be offered at Pittsburg Teachers College this spring. Designated as "Tele-typesetter Keyboard Operation," it is believed to be the first course of its kind ever offered. Students enrolling in the class will receive instruction in punching paper tapes which transmit impulses to a receiving machine on a linotype. The linotype then sets up copy automatically.

HARDING FIRST

NEW YORK—(INS)—In 1922, Warren G. Harding became the first President to use radio broadcasting to reach the American people, according to "Dunlap's Radio and Television Almanac."

Takes A Doctor's Advice
Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol
Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin.

Wesley Scallions, energetic young gas station attendant in Peoria, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Scallions has this to report: "I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run-down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man; he now has a hearty appetite, sleeps well and gets around once again on his own.

"I have had pains in my right arm and legs due to these deficiencies. I lost many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After my first three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pains. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."

That's the kind of product you've been wanting—the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

Many doctors recommend HADACOL. It is also wonderful for stomach disturbances (gas pains, indigestion, bloating, heartburn) and a general nervous run-down condition when due to such deficiencies.

Be fair to yourself! If you have such deficiencies—why go around feeling half-alive — a burden to others when you can get this great HADACOL at Rand's. Remember — HADACOL must help you you or your money back. Trial-size bottle, only $1.19. Large family or hospital size, $3.39.

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief

Don't be satisfied with symptomatic relief — HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those cruel nagging aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning.

Assistant Traffic Safety Engineer Killed In Accident

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—(INS)—Edward Flynn, 48, assistant traffic engineer in the State department of highway safety, was killed instantly in Philadelphia today when his car collided with a borrowed auto driven by a 17-year-old high school senior.

Flynn, of 39 Taylor avenue, Harrisburg, an aide of T. Elmer Transeau, chief of the Bureau of Highway safety, was hurled to the street when the door of his car was sprung open by the impact.

The other car was driven by John A. Martin, 17, of Philadelphia, police said. Martin was taken to a hospital in a state of shock, with severe lacerations of the head.

PRAISES WAGE ORDER

DETROIT, March 1.—(INS)—C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, last night praised the government's new wage order allowing cost-of-living adjustments and other benefits.

Wilson sent a telegram to stabilizer Eric Johnston calling the pay freeze modification "fair" and "in the best interests of the nation".

He also urged extension of the escalator clauses operating in the auto contracts to other industries as a means "for stabilizing industry-labor relations generally".

Former Official Is Acquitted Of Murder Charges

SAN ANGELO, Tex., March 1.—(INS)—Former District Attorney O'Neal Dendy was acquitted last night of "voluntary and premeditated murder" in the fatal shooting of a painter and tenant on his farm near San Angelo.

Another of Dendy's tenant testified that the slain man, Ray E. Canada, grabbed the defendant by the shirt and pulled him outside before being shot twice last Jan. 16.

Dendy subsequently resigned from his prosecutor's post.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Steelways Magazine claims that steel actually is cheaper than dirt. The magazine says that some steels sell for 3½ cents a pound while the same weight of a little potting soil for geraniums costs six or seven cents.

Philadelphia To Seek Conventions

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—(INS)—Walter H. Annenberg, editor and publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, took over the general chairmanship today of a non-partisan drive to bring next year's Republican and Democratic National Conventions to the Quaker City.

Annenberg was asked to lead the city's bid by Republican National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett, and Pittsburgh's Mayor David L. Lawrence, member of the Democratic National Committee, as a result of his efforts in bringing both conclaves to the city in 1948.

Philadelphia has been the site of five GOP conventions and two Democratic parleys in the past. In 1948 the city attracted both parties by giving each $200,000 to help defray expenses, plus an additional $50,000 apiece for entertainment.

Crack Down On Stream Pollution

HARRISBURG, March 1.—(INS)—The State Sanitary Water Board today tightened its anti-pollution program on 16 Western Pennsylvania watershed by cracking down on mining operations.

Two types of permits, the board reported, will be granted for operation. One will cover mines which do not discharge sufficient waste water to pollute streams while the other bans acid waste discharges in all clean streams.

Watersheds which thus will be protected, the board said, are on the Allegheny river above Kiskiminetas river, Slippery Rock Creek, Little Connoquenessing Creek, Little Beaver Creek, Kinzua Creek, Clarion River, Redbank Creek, Sandy Creek on the Allegheny, Little Scrubgrass Creek, Crooked Creek, Tangascootack Creek, Huling Run, South Bear Creek, Youghiogheny River and Kettle Creek.

Basketball Scandal Grows Bigger Each Day

Twelve Under Arrest As Eddie Gard Talks

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 1—The moving finger of Eddie Gard, the "tell-all" figure in New York's big basketball fix, was reported today to have implicated at least five more players and one college so far unconnected with the mushrooming scandal.

Gard, former Long Island University star who allegedly acted as the "go-between" in the fantastic series of fixes that already has brought 12 arrests, has been spilling facts to wide-eyed prosecutors almost continuously since his arrest Feb. 18.

Referee-Coach Hunted

There was an unconfirmed report that a hunt is underway for a referee who has officiated at many basketball games at Madison Square Garden and a former college coach. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan refused to discuss the report, however.

And there were reliable indications today that through Gard, Hogan has received leads on five former stars from the Metropolitan area. One of these, said to be a key figure in the "dump" picture over the past five years, is expected to be brought in for questioning within a short time.

These developments also were in the news:

1. A possible Madison Square Garden ban of the sport was under discussion by the Garden's Board of Directors.

2. Salvatore Sollazzo, ex-convict being held without bail as the arch fixer in the scandal, was deeper in trouble than ever.

Sollazzo's latest grief was a grand jury indictment charging he reported his net income for 1944 at $28,741 instead of $265,634, which the charge says his income actually was.

Layne Under Arrest

Floyd Layne of New York's City College, latest arrest in the case, was released on $5,000 bail yesterday pending a hearing next Monday—a hearing which is going to require a 12-sided police blotter. All 12 accused men, 10 of them players or former players, will be brought before the bar simultaneously at that time. Their numbers will of course include Gard.

Farrell Meets Crafton Tonight

Rankin Defeats Brentwood, 45-28

PITTSBURGH, March 1—(INS)—Rankin romped to a 45-28 victory over Brentwood last night in a first round playoff game in the WPIAL Class A tournament.

Rankin, Section 8 champs, pressed hard for a lead over Brentwood, Section 5 champs, who continued to miss opportunities to score.

Farrell meets Crafton tonight in WPIAL elimination play between the Section 3 and Section 12 champs.

Sandy Saddler Winner By Kayo

HAVANA, March 1—(INS)—World featherweight champion Sandy Saddler scored a two round knockout victory over Cuba's Diego Sosa last night, but his victory was greeted by a near-riot by several thousand spectators in the Sports Palace.

Saddler clipped Sosa in the jaw during a clinch and the Cuban slumped to the canvas and was counted out at the two minute mark by the referee. The fans protested that the blow was foul and flooded the ring with cushions and bottles.

CONNIE RYAN SIGNS

CINCINNATI, March 1.—(INS)—Second Baseman Connie Ryan has ended his brief holdout and will report tomorrow at the Cincinnati Reds' training camp in Tampa, Fla.

Ryan agreed to terms last night but did not disclose his new salary.

Board Of Directors Will Meet Tonight

Al Scarazzo, preisdent of the New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., has called a board of directors meeting for 8 o'clock tonight at his South Mill street office.

The Mid-Atlantic will operate a six-team class C loop this summer with the New Castle Indians as members. New Castle will have an optional working agreement with the Cleveland Indians this year.

Plans are under way for the Indians to present a strong lineup in an effort to provide the fans with a championship team.

Baseball is only two months away. The league will start the first week in May and end on Labor Day, it was indicated. A schedule is being drawn up by secretary Russell Hockenbury for either 120 or 130 games.

Ike Williams To Meet Pruden

Non-Title Bout In New York City

NEW YORK, March 1.—(INS)—Lightweight King Ike Williams, who's been called a "non-fighting" champion, is all signed up to fight today—but not for his title.

Williams will meet Welterweight Fitzie Pruden in a 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden, March 16.

The Trenton, N. J., champion, who hasn't defended his crown since 1949, has been ordered to do so by the New York State Boxing commission. The commission gave Ike until April 1 to sign for a title defense.

Williams intends to abide by the ultimatum and may meet the winner of the Jimmy Carter-Percy Bassett bout in Philadelphia next week.

Pruden proved a very capable substitute last week when he went in as a "pinch-hitter" for Jimmy Flood and pounded out a unanimous ten-round decision over Tony Janiro.

Boosters Smother East Palestine

East Brook's Boosters smothered the East Palestine Merchants last night at the East Brook floor 103 to 37 to break a scoring record for the Booster team.

The Merchants were humbled in the first period, trailing 17-4.

Carl Jameson led his teammates and the entire East Palestine team in total points with 38.

Sharpshooters, Strizzi's, Yanks Recreation Winners

The National division of the city recreational basketball league produced two winners and the American division one in championship play last night at the George Washington floor, as the Sharpshooters, the Strizzis and the Yankees walked off with respective midget, junior and senior honors.

Malley, Greenberg and Llewellyn paced the American league Sharpshooters to a decisive but hard-earned win over the much smaller Mahoning Blackhawks, 22 to 10.

Strizzis of the National league twice overcame Red Skin leads to emerge winners in the junior division. The American league Red Skins succumbed to a late quarter spurt by the studio team and went under 17-22.

Ugo Fiorante called attention to himself when he rang up 26 points in pacing the National league senior Yankees to an easy win over the American league Bears 57-34.

Prescaro of the Yanks and Williams and Marcotuli of the Bears picked up the bulk of the remaining total points.

CONRAD "CONNIE" LEWIS

"Connie" is another second year man with the Clowns. He is one of the real coming stars of the court. Tall and lean, he keeps the fans up on their feet most of the game. When he starts his marathon dribbling, Connie starts by bouncing the ball as high as his head, then in and out all through the defending team. Then down on his knees still dribbling with either hand.

One of the finest ball handlers on the team, he is very fast, strong off the backboard. Only 20 years old, Connie is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lewis, 6 feet 2 and weighing 180 pounds, will be in the lineup here on Saturday night as the Clowns meet the Hank A. C. at the Washington High court at 8:30 o'clock following a Shenango Y and Hank Rocket prelim at 7 o'clock.

North County Loop Will Meet Tonight

North County Baseball League will meet tonight at the fire house in New Wilmington at 8:30 it is announced by Ivan Young, secretary.

All teams should be represented at the meeting, which will determine the officers and set-up for the coming season.

Universal-Rundle will hold a baseball meeting at the Hi-Spot tonight and anyone who is interested in receiving a try-out for the team should be present, according to Don Burley, assistant manager.

MINELLI WINS BOUT

EDEN-HILLERS TO MEET

Eden-Hillers baseball team will meet tonight at Arena's at 7 o'clock for an important meeting, it is announced by manager Mario Grilli.

W. & J. TOPS BETHANY

BETHANY, W. Va., March 1—(INS)—Washington & Jefferson made it 16 wins against two losses last night by defeating Bethany 68-63 at Bethany.

NCAA Meets In Chicago Today

CHICAGO, March 1.—(INS)—The council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association meets in Chicago today to discuss the still disturbing problem of television and its effect on college football.

The NCAA has declared a moratorium on televising of next fall's games but will consider proposals to conduct controlled tests in various sections of the nation to determine the effect on video in attendance.

Several conferences, including the Big Ten already have banned live television of 1951 contests.

Beshore Victor By TKO In Fifth

Referee Stops Bout, Saves Henri

HARRISBURG, March 1—(INS)—Stocky Freddie Beshore scored his first win in five starts last night by knocking out dusky Art Henri, Long Island, in the fifth of a 10-round heavyweight fight.

A hometown crowd of 3300 paid a gross of $11,500 to witness Beshore's comeback scrap after losing twice to champion Ezzard Charles and once each to ex-champ Joe Louis and Harry Wills.

Referee Stops It

Beshore, depending on bull-like rushes and flailing right hands to the body, dropped the 183-pound Henri three times in the fifth round before referee Barney Ross, onetime welterweight and lightweight king, halted the proceedings.

Henri, the sharper puncher, sliced open a cut above Beshore's left eye in the second round and scored repeatedly with short jabs and hooks. But blond, 190-pound Freddie dealt out the heavy blows.

Ross had the hometown product ahead two round to one with one even going into the final while the two judges disagreed in their scoring.

Hornets Trim Barons, 4 To 1

(By International News Service)

The Cleveland Barons are beginning to wonder what they have to do to set a new American Hockey League record on the road.

The Barons need just one more victory away from home to write a new mark in the record books of 20 victories on the road but the unsympathetic Hornets whipped them, 4-1, last night at Pittsburgh.

The injury-riddled Cleveland team won their last road game on Jan. 26 at Cincinnati but since then they have not even come close to catching another victory on foreign ice.

Pittsburgh, by beating the Barons, climbed into third place in the league's Western Division, a half game ahead of the Cincinnati Mohawks who dropped a close 3-2 game to the Buffalo Bisons.

In the other game last night, Springfield routed Hershey 10-1.

Tonight St. Louis goes to Hershey, Providence to Indianapolis, and Cincinnati to Pittsburgh.

Bethel Spurts To Defeat Robinson

PITTSBURGH, March 1—(INS)—Bethel spurted ahead in the final quarter to take a WPIAL Class B playoff game from Robinson, 44-33, on the Dormont court last night.

Bethel, Section 15 repeater champs, forged ahead after a neck-and-neck battle through three quarters to finally down Robinson, Section 16 banner winners.

Universals Will Play Ecclesians

Business manager Alex Orlando of the Universal Pottery basketball team has announced that the Pottery team will play the Ecclesian club tonight at the Ben Franklin floor in an 8 o'clock game.

The "A" division of the tournament calls for two defeats before resultant elimination. The Potters have won their only game played.

HI-LANDERS NIP MT. JACKSON

Hi-Landers kept up their winning ways by edging Mt. Jackson last weekend, 44-41. Vitale and Clark were high for the winners, Woods and Macek for the losers.

The theatre team has now won 18 and lost two.

Indians Prep For Avalon Game At Dormont Tuesday

Now that East Washington is out of the way, the Wampum Indians are concentrating on the contest with Avalon high school next Tuesday at Dormont.

Avalon, champions of Section 13, drew a bye in the first round of the playoffs and move directly into the quarter-finals with Wampum.

It was Avalon that eliminated Wampum in last year's quarter-finals and the Indians welcome the opportunity to get another shot at the Golden Panthers.

Avalon's record is again very good, but not so awe inspiring as the one compiled a year ago, when the Golden Panthers lost out in the WPIAL finals to Irwin by a 39-37 score.

Beaver Beat Both

Against the two teams' only common foe—Beaver—both teams did about the same thing. Wampum lost at Beaver, 51-49, and Avalon lost at Beaver, 54-45. Wampum lost to Beaver at home, 57-52, and Avalon lost to Beaver at home, 59-58, in an overtime game.

All told Avalon has won 19 and lost three, losing its opener to Mt. Lebanon and winning all 14 Section 13 contests. In the 22 games played the Golden Panthers have scored 1317 points, while holding their opponents to 971.

Leading scorer on the team has been Ronnie Mayer, who has scored 326 points. Next comes Don Tobin with 311 and Dave Nusz with 217. All three of these players started against Wampum in last year's game. Rounding out the first five for Avalon are Bruce McGinnis and Dick Domville. Mayer, Tobin and Nusz are all well over the six foot mark and have done a good job on rebounds throughout the season.

Wampum has more height this season than when it met the Golden Panthers a year ago and should be able to hold its own on the boards, where Avalon has been winning a good share of its games.

Columbia Annexes 29th Straight Win

NEW YORK, March 1.—(INS)—Columbia's high riding basketball team last night defeated Brown 93 to 55, for its 29th straight victory.

Columbia still has to play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday and Princeton at Tigertown next week in its drive for the Ivy league title.

At the 69th Regiment Armory last night St. John's defeated Fordham, 73 to 63. It was the 21st triumph in 24 starts for the Redmen.

Tom Tannis, who co-manages Charles with Jake Mintz, is a friend of Joe Alexander, who handled Mickie Solomon and Emmett Rocco. . . . In early spring all plants—grass, trees, flowers, shrubs, and vegetables . . . take a new lease on life — provided the soil contains needed food.

All of them need the re-vitalizing "tonic" effect of MILORGANITE, the natural organic fertilizer. It restores to the soil the important elements used by plants during the past season.

Milorganite is SAFE for anyone to use. It is clean, dust-free, easy to apply and non-burning. Effects are long-lasting, too. That's why Milorganite-fed lawns stay green longer. Supplied in 25-, 50-100-lb. sift-proof bags

SHAH'S BRIDE WEARS UNIQUE GOWN

QUEENLY SPLENDOR is portrayed in the wedding gown of Soraya Isfandiari, 19-year-old bride of Iran's Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. Six thousand small diamonds and one million sequins covered the silver lame creation of a leading Paris dress designer. Twenty thousand feathers were worked into the hoops of the skirt. At the Teheran reception, new queen wore a priceless fur coat over her gown. (International)

Rosetta DeNome Gets Nurse's Cap

Miss Rosetta DeNome, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Willia DeNome of Long avenue, finished her six month's clinic training at the Beaver Valley General hospital, New Brighton, and received her first cap at a ceremony in the hospital on Wednesday evening.

A graduate of the Lincoln high school of Ellwood City, class of 1950, Miss DeNome was among 22 girls to receive their caps.

Bare Possibility

REFLECTING the hopes of the future, Billy Senft smiles broadly into a mirror in a New York hotel as Albert Roberts (rear) explains a new hair-growing discovery. It's a hormone obtained from the pituitary glands of hogs and has been, according to Mr. Roberts, successfully used on two men who were bald for five years. It is being offered to doctors and hospitals for further investigation. (International)

To Sue Accuser

Young Italian Lawyer Leaves

Has Been Studying In State Capital

HARRISBURG, Mar. 1 — Victor Margiotti, deputy attorney general for the department of agriculture in the Italian government in Rome, has left the state capitol scene. The 34-year-old lawyer has been studying application of American law in government since last fall.... He will use the knowledge when he returns to his post in Rome. Margiotti says that when allied armies swept north through Italy, he slipped through nazi lines to join United States forces in a minor advisory capacity. After the war, he completed his law studies and was admitted to the bar. He was brought to America by Charles J. Margiotti of Pittsburgh, who over the weekend tendered his resignation as state attorney general. Governor Fine is expected to accept it. The young lawyer, who says that he is the only Margiotti listed in the Rome telephone directory despite the size of the city, learned to speak English in less than a year. ...There is no relationship between the two Margiottis. The former attorney general decided to bring the Rome lawyer to the United States after their trails crossed accidently while the state official was visiting in Italy.

The practice of many departments and state agencies of frosting the glass in doors and windows has been scuttled by the commerce department. For reasons not announced, acting secretary A. J. Sordoni and his deputy, retired Adm. W. W. Behrens, ordered the frosting glass removed thus allowing the scope of the department's operations to be seen by passersby. The department, set up in 1939 with about 20 employes, now has approximately 160 on the payroll. It is often the target of criticism but has had the support of all governors since its establishment.

Lawmakers are beginning to champ at the bit because the biennial budget has not made its appearance. One result has been widespread absenteeism in the house on the last day of each session. Recently, house majority leader Charles C. Smith had to postpone a vote on a civil defense bill because a quorum of the 208 members was not present in the house. The budget is expected anywhere up to the middle of March but the budget bureau has made no announcement of the expected date. The budget usually is late in appearing during the first legislative session of a governor's term. One reason is that incoming governors must evaluate the true condition of the state's finances when he is in a position to demand all the answers. Another reason is that in recent years, starting with the war, the paper shortage coupled with a tight printing schedule, has made it difficult to assure early delivery.

Det. Sgt. Thomas Cullen who took leave of absence from the state police to join the staff of U. S. Sen. James H. Duff in Washington, has returned to the state capitol and is awaiting reassignment to duty. Cullen is understood to have rebelled at insistence that he do work other than chauffeur Duff, his chief duty when the latter was governor.

Henry M. Parmley, Sr., of Ithaca, N. Y., has renewed his campaign in Pennsylvania and New York legislatures to win approval of his plan to substitute windshield stickers for metal license plates on motor vehicles. Parmley, a former Pennsylvanian, believes 1500 tons of steel needed for Pennsylvania plates could be used to better advantage.

Girl Scout Leaders Meet On Tuesday

In the auditorium of the YWCA the Girl Scout leaders assembled on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Clarence Shumaker presiding.

There was a short business session, when rules of the club were amended.

The following were elected to the nominating committee for one year: Mrs. C. R. Scott, Mrs. Herbert Ridgley and Mrs. H. M. White.

Mrs. R. J. Cartwright read a letter from Mrs. Leone Hawthorne, national staff member of Region 3, explaining a visitation by her to several Girl Scout troops to be chosen in the near future. This visitation will be a valuation of the program, not the leader. Much benefit may accrue from such a visit.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Roland White. Troop 6 of New Wilmington has been working on a dramatic badge, and as part of it, presented a one-act play entitled "She Takes the Cake", which was very well presented and showed lots of effort on the part of the girls and the leader. Troop 72 was present and sang a number of spirituals. Due to illness of leader Mrs. Nelson, Mr. Nelson accompanied the girls, and sang two solos.

Next meeting will be held in the YWCA auditorium on March 27. The program will consist of folk dancing and songs. A program consultant will have charge during the evening. There will be election of officers.

IPOH, Malaya—A village, destroyed by Communist terrorists, is going to be rebuilt. New houses will be erected with government aid for 1000 people who bravely but fruitlessly resisted a Communist raid last February. The terrorists burned the entire village.

City Tax Reports Due By March 15

Business and professional men who pay a city income tax on their net profits have until March 15 to make their returns according to Earned Income Tax Receiver Lewis A. McClung.

Mr. McClung said he would be unable to state the total amount of money paid for 1950, until settlements had been made with Union, Neshannock, Hickory and Shenango townships which also have a wage tax for school purposes.

The word "inalienable" does not appear in the Declaration of Independence.
